Second Student Dies

Marion Girl, 16, Killed When Car Hits Bridge

Violet Jean Bridges, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Bridges of 537 Milburn Ave., today became the second Harding High School student in 24 hours to die in an automobile accident.

She was killed in Sandusky County on State Route 199, six miles south of U. S. Route 6, at 12:30 this morning. The car in which she was riding struck a bridge abutment as it was heading south. The accident occurred about two miles north of Rising Sun.

Driver of the car was Shannon Manuel, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Manuel of 126 Knox St.

Returning From Detroit

The girls were returning to Marion from Detroit where they had gone with the Manuel girl's father to pick up an automobile. The girls were in Mr. Manuel's car. Mr. Manuel was ahead of them in the newly-acquired automobile.

Miss Bridges, a junior at Harding High School, was sleeping in the front seat when the accident happened. State highway patrol reports show death was caused by a fractured skull. She also suffered a fractured left leg and body bruises. The automobile was demolished in the accident.

Mr. Manuel is the operator of Central Auto Sales on N. Main St. The car he was driving had been acquired for sale on his lot.

VIOLET JEAN BRIDGES

Miss Manuel in Hospital

Miss Manuel, a senior at St. Mary School, received lacerations of the face and a punctured right cheek. She was taken to Fostoria City Hospital where her condition was described as "fairly good" by hospital authorities.

Hospital authorities also said the girl would be released soon, either today or tomorrow after the results of X-rays are known.

The death of Miss Bridges followed closely the death Wednesday morning of Joyceann Marie Stoner, a senior at Harding. Miss Stoner died as the result of injuries received in an accident near Green Camp Tuesday afternoon.

The body of Miss Bridges was taken to the Harnold Funeral Home in Fostoria. It was returned this morning to the M. H. Gunder Sons Funeral Home.

Police Notify Parents

Police in Marion were notified of the accident by the state patrol post in Fostoria at 2:53 this morning. They, in turn, notified Mr. and Mrs. Bridges.

Violet Jean Bridges was born Sept. 19, 1937, in Ashland, Ky., to John L. and Lillian Fields Bridges, the father a native of Lawrence County, O., and the mother of Ashland, Ky.

Surviving with her parents are two brothers and two sisters, John David, Sharon Jane, Angela Rose, and Michael Edward Bridges.

Israel Ducks War Blame In Holy Land

Prepares To Charge Arabs Incited Border Killings in Palestine

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Israel was reported ready today to heap full blame for recent Palestine violence on military and economic pressures by her Arab neighbors.

Sources close to Israeli Chief Delegate Abba Eban said he would review the whole field of Arab-Jewish relations before the U. N. Security Council today in is nation's most important statement of policy since an uneasy armistice ended the 1948 Palestine war.

Aggression by Arabs

The Israeli sources said Eban's review would include Jewish charges of Arab aggressions across the frontiers, economic boycotts against Israel by Arab nations and Arab opposition to such Israeli development projects and diversion of the Jordan River waters. Syria has brought the latter subject before the Security Council in a separate complaint.

The meeting of the 11-nation organization was called today to debate further the charges—backed up by the report of U. N. military observers in Palestine—that armed Israeli forces on Oct. 14 broke the Palestine armistice with a "calculated" attack on the Jordan border village of Kibya. Fifty-three Arabs were killed.

The Western Big Three on Monday condemned Israel for the attack but so far have not presented the council with a resolution of censure.

Made by Militia

Israel already has contended that the Kibya attack was made not by her regular army but by village militia inflamed by a Jordan attack two days before.

The Israeli government made it clear it regarded the Kibya incident not as an isolated outbreak but as one of a long series of border violences resulting from Arab pressures.

TRAIN WRAPPED AROUND BRIDGE GIRDERS. A commuter coach of a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train is wrapped around a bridge girder on the structure crossing the Schuylkill River east of Philadelphia's 30th St. station after the train was wrecked with an unofficial toll of more than 30 passengers injured.

Public Duty Prevents It, He Declares

Following Precedent, Constitution, Velde Informed in Letter

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said today he will not heed a subpoena to appear tomorrow before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

In a letter to committee Chairman Harold H. Velde (R-Ill.) which Truman read to a news conference today, he said:

"In spite of my personal willingness to cooperate with you, I am restrained by my duties to the people of the United States to decline to reply."

Shortly before Truman made public his letter here, Velde announced Truman's appearance before the committee had been postponed indefinitely.

Truman said he was following the Constitution of the United States and precedents set since 1796 in refusing to honor the committee's summons.

He said the letter was "my official statement" and that he would not expand on it.

Velde's announcement of a postponement wiped out the immediate possibility of a showdown on the issue of whether the ex-president had to comply with the subpoena to tell of his actions in the White case seven years ago.

Not Dropping Matter

However, Velde said he was not dropping the matter. He issued this statement:

"I feel very definitely that Harry S. Truman and Gov. Byrnes (of South Carolina) should appear before the Un-American Activities Committee to give information to the committee concerning the Harry Dexter White matter. I feel that I was within my rights in issuing the subpoenaes frt ediwnoa Ilm the subpoenaes for them and will continue pressing for these hearings.

"Gov. Byrnes has very kindly consented to be heard by the subcommittee in his home state.

"As soon as it is possible, I intend to call an executive meeting of the whole committee to determine these issues. Until that meeting is held, I feel that it will be necessary to postpone the hearing of Harry S. Truman set for tomorrow."

Cancel Vaughan Subpoena

Earlier Velde had cancelled a subpoena for Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, former military aide to Truman.

However, Vaughan had a date today with the Senate internal security subcommittee which is making its own inquiry into the tumultuous White case.

Vaughan was summoned before the Senate group to tell what he knows of FBI reports on White at the time in early 1946 when Truman named White U. S. director of the International Monetary Fund. Atty. Gen. Brownell set off the uproar last Friday by saying the FBI reported to the White House, before Truman made the appointment, that White, who died in 1948, had been an active Communist spy.

The Senate subcommittee, after a closed session with Vaughan and his former secretary, Ruth Anderson, planned to throw open its afternoon meeting to the public, newsmen and television cameras. Dumont and ABC were making plans to carry the hearing on their TV networks.

Truman Denies Allegations

Truman, denying Brownell's assertions, has not said whether he would comply with the subpoena to testify. President Eisenhower said yesterday he would not have subpoenaed Truman, as Velde did.

Velde said he had talked by telecommitteemen, Rep. Doyle (D—Calif.) and Rep. Kearney (R—NY), may be unavailable for some time. He said "it now appears unlikely" his group will go ahead with its announced plans to question Truman tomorrow.

Velde said e had talked by telephone with Doyle in California; Kearney is in a hospital for a check-up.

Eisenhower Balks

The Un—American Activities Committee chairman declined to comment on reports that the entire investigation may be put off until next year as some Democratic members have suggested.

President Eisenhower jettisoned any hope for administration support in forcing Truman to testify. He said he personally would not have slapped a subpoena on the ex-

'No Panacea,' Benson Says in Farm Speech

Addresses Land Grant College Officials at Meeting in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson, target of some farm leaders and congressmen because of his farm policies, declared today he is not interested in "personal popularity."

The GOP farm chief said he is striking ahead in an effort to develop a sound agricultural program that would serve "all of agriculture" and "all the people."

In a speech prepared for a meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, Benson said it would have been "comparatively easy" for him to "yield to the demands . . . to go off on a round of patchwork programming."

'No Easy Panacea'

"There is no easy panacea for agriculture," he declared. "There is no magic formula that will set everything right. Patchwork remedies — quack remedies — patent medicine remedies . . . are a dime a dozen, and that's all some of them are worth."

Benson has been highly critical of rigid high-level price support features of existing farm law. He has contended that price crop[illegible] and bring on upward-adjusted production controls.

Some farm leaders and lawmakers who favor the present program have demanded that Benson resign. President Eisenhower has said he is standing back of his Cabinet official.

Must Help Farmers

Benson took a slap at those who are urging continuation of the present 90 per cent of parity price supports for major crops beyond the 1954 expiration date. Parity, a standard for measuring farm prices, is declared by law to be fair to farmers as well as consumers in relation to prices farmers must pay.

"I am firmly convinced," Benson said, "that we should, and that we can, and that we must, help American farmers achieve full parity—and achieve it in the right place, the market place. And we must do it while preserving, and

State Visit to Canada

President Starts Tonight On 2-Day Trip to Ottawa

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower leaves late today on a good neighbor trip to Ottawa for discussion of mutual problems—such as continental defense against any enemy attack—with top Canadian officials.

The President will be accompanied on a special train by Mrs. Eisenhower, Ambassador and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and a small staff of White House aides. Lodge is chief of the U. S. mission to the United Nations.

Second Trip Outside

The two-day state visit to Ottawa will be Eisenhower's second trip outside the country since he took office last January. He crossed from Texas into Mexico last month.

The President told his news conference yesterday he is going to Canada to pay is respects to the people of the dominion. His address to Parliament Saturday, he added, will deal with matters of common interest to the United States and Canada.

In Ottawa, he will be the guest of the governor general, Vincent Massey, and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

Aides said the Chief Executive also plans to review Canadian-American relations in private talks with dominion officials.

Mutual Defense

In that category is continental defense, including the radar screen along the northern edges of the Canadian mainland and the islands adjacent.

There has been talk of a radar "net" in northern Canada, but what actually is up there now is something less than a solid "net". One thing apparently needed is more depth of the radar system with additional stations to the south to track incoming planes after the outer net has picked them up.

The controversial St. Lawrence seaway proposal also appears certain to be discussed.

East Liverpool Mayors Deny Gambler's Charge

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio—East Liverpool's mayor and his two predecessors denied today "City Hall" ever notified gamblers when they were to be raided.

Ray Nicho's, former bookie shop operator here, had testified in Cleveland at an income tax hearing, that he had been notified.

Those denying the tip-offs were Mayor Arnold W. Devon and the two men who held the office before him, Harry Smith and O. Earl Greenawalt.

5 Interviewed For Top Post In New Hospital

Five applicants for the position of administrator of the new Marion General Hospital were interviewed last night by the newly-formed Hospital Board of Control.

The board might make its selection for the job at a meeting next Wednesday night, according to Mayor Harold F. Robinson, chairman.

Robinson said that the board was pleased with the group it interviewed last night.

Only one Marion person was interviewed. She was the present administrator of Marion City Hospital, Miss Irene Tinklepaugh, 47, of 612 Cleveland Ave.

Others interviewed were Charles Robert Cook, 32, of Lorain, currently engaged in construction work; William L. Cowart, 46, of Hamilton, Va., just discharged from the Air Force, Arthur A. Winston, 56, of Toledo, not currently employed; and Donald J. Wires, 35, of Columbus, assistant administrator of Children's Hospital in Columbus.

Five other applicants did not show up for last night's interviews.

The new Board of Control consists of four members appointed by the county commissioners and four members appointed by city council with Mayor Robinson acting as ex-officio chairman.

City members of the group are Ellis H. Oiler, John W. Watters, Dr. M. M. Weinbaum and Harold J. Grigsby. County members are Dr. Richard A. Dietrich, Léon McCorkle, Mrs. Harry Axtheim and Felix Reber.

The board will be in charge of the operation of the new hospital.

A similarly selected Hospital Board of Commissioners was in charge of the building's planning and is now supervising its construction.

OPERA SINGER DIES

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Rachel Frease Green, 78, who made her operatic debut in London's Covent Gardens in 1908 and sang in many large cities in the United States and Europe, died yesterday in Cleveland after an illness of two months. She was a sister of the late George B. Frease, former publisher of the Canton Repository.

Magsaysay Is New President Of Philippines

Quirino Concedes to Youthful Victor, Firm United States' Friend

MANILA (AP)—Tired, ailing President Elpidio Quirino today conceded victory in the Philippines presidential election to youthful, vigorous Ramon Magsaysay, who won in a landslide.

The 46-year-old winner, a staunch friend of the United States, becomes the third President of this 7-year-old republic. He is to take office Jan. 1 for a four-year term. Quirino steps out after six years in office.

Unofficial nationwide returns gave Magsaysay 2,269,131 votes to 1,022,566 for Quirino.

Quirino's Statement

The concession statement by the 62-year-old Quirino, still recovering from two major stomach operations in the United States, was read to newsmen by his press secretary.

"In this year's election," it said, "evidently the people expected much in a change of administration. My most fervent prayer at this hour is that the change is for the better.

"The people's verdict should be accepted for the sake of national unity. I have nothing but good wishes for the country and my successor."

Magsaysay was cruising in Manila Bay on the palatial yacht of Adm. Richard H. Cruzen, commander of U. S. naval forces in The Philippines, when word reached him that Quirino had conceded.

Over the yacht's radio telephone he said he was "profoundly grateful to our people for the overwhelming expression of their confidence in our cause."

Cleanest in History

He said the election, cleanest The Philippines has ever experienced, insured "that our free institutions will survive and flourish for generations to come."

He thanked Quirino for his good wishes and called on all Filipinos "to work together as one people" during the next four years.

He said he would enter the President's office "with humility" and "dedication to the nation and with a prayer to Almighty God for his continued love and guidance."

Magsaysay appeared to be carrying into office with him Nacionalista candidates for all eight Senate seats at stake in the election. And incomplete returns indicated his coalition would win control of the House of Representatives. All of the 102 congressional seats were filled Tuesday.

Magsaysay bolted President Quirino's Liberal party and resigned as defense secretary eight months ago after disputing with the Chief Executive over the conduct of the government's campaign against the Communist Hukguerrillas.

Magsaysay demanded firmer action against the rebels.

Candidates' Expense Reports Due on Friday

Indians Ready To Take Over Red Interviews

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Indian command today worked on detailed plans for screening Chinese and Korean war prisoners if the Communists abandon efforts to woo them home.

Red interviews with prisoners refusing repatriation were canceled for the eighth straight day when the Communists repeated their demand to see 356 POWs who were skipped by stalling persuaders last Thursday.

Official quarters said the Red move appeared to be merely a maneuver while the Communist high command decides whether to go along with new Indian rules for running the interviews or torpedo the explanation program.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, was ready for a trip to Communist headquarters at Kaesong when-

Three Mishaps Reported by Police, Patrol

Two minor accidents with no injuries were reported by city police this morning. State patrolmen listed one accident.

A truck driven by Earl F. Bieber, 56, of near Delaware, was extensively damaged in the right front side when it struck a car parked in front of 333 S. Main St. at 7:08 p.m. yesterday.

The parked car, owned by Fred W. Chapman, 42, of 356 N. Prospect St., received minor damage to the left rear fender. Bieber was cited to appear in Municipal Court today to answer a charge of failing to comply with a conditional license.

The other accident occurred at the intersection of two alleys, just west of the corner of Indiana Ave. and Summit St., at 5:35 p.m. yesterday.

The collision occurred when an

Two Lose Lives In Mossadegh Demonstration

Ex-Premier's Friends Carry Case to Streets; Riots, Violence Erupts

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Two demonstrators were killed by police gunfire today as thousands of supporters of ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh took their ousted leader's case into the streets.

Gangs shouting "Long live Mossadegh" roamed main thoroughfares despite heavy police and troop guards at main intersections. By noon Tehran time at least 2 demonstrators had been arrested. Several had been severely clubbed by police under orders to take "drastic action" in maintaining order.

The city's main bazaar, which houses hundreds of tiny stores and booths, was about half shut down. Soldiers with fixed bayonets patrolled the labyrinth of covered passageways throughout the huge shopping area, long a center of Mossadegh strength.

Despite the widespread street agitation, many of the city's activities continued normally.

The strike call had been hallyhooed for more than a week by Communists and pro-Mossadegh leaders as a demonstration of support for the 73-year-old nationalist leader now facing an army court martial on treason charges.

Mossadegh, ousted in a royalist revolt Aug. 19, is accused of defying Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, trying to overthrow the monarchy and illegally dissolving the Majlis (lower house of Parliament).

Lima Fire Fatal

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Calvin Fett, 70, died last night when an oil stove overflowed setting fire to his two-room frame house east of Lima city limits.

Dr. Richard I. Bixby, Allen County coroner, said Fett died of suffocation.

Crowd Biggest in Years

Marion's Armistice Day Parade Viewed by 5,000

A crowd estimated at approximately 5,000 watched the annual Armistice Day Parade in downtown Marion last night.

By making the crowd estimate Police Chief Tom Coon said it was the largest turnout for an Armistice Day parade he had seen here. The parade was ten blocks long and Chief Coon as well as parade officials termed it a "very nice" show.

The parade was led by the color guard furnished by Geran Thomas VFW Post 3313 of Marion, a police escort, J. A. Dupps, grand marshal, and an aide, Capt. Howard Williams, a Reserve officer from Marion. It moved from the staging area on W. Center St. up Center to State St., south on State to Church St. and west on Church to Pearl St., where it disbanded.

Veterans organizations and auxiliaries marched in the parade with the Eagles band, Mayor Harold Robinson and other city officials, Marion Engineer Depot officials, Gold Star and Blue Star Mothers, Bird-McGinnis Drum and Bugle Corps, Company "C" of the National Guard, Motorcycle Defense Corps, Harding High School band, Boy and Cub Scout units, Morral High School band, Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs and the Marion Saddle Club. Floats included the 40 et 8 boxcar engine and Depot searchlights.

Division commanders were Howard Tweddle, Fred Thacker, Ted Messenger and Elton Butler. Tweddle was chairman of the parade committee and Gerald Messenger was co-chairman.

Police Chief Coon today extended thanks to the auxiliary police and rescue squad, made up of Junior Chamber of Commerce members, who assisted police in handling traffic.

H-Bomb To Aid Peace

AEC Head Says Foreign Powers Should See Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — An atomic energy commissioner suggests that foreigners, presumably including Russians, should see a U. S. hydrogen bomb exploded as a sample of the destructive alternate to world peace.

The idea, expressed by Thomas E. Murray last night, came as America was readying another and probably more fierce hydrogen test blast.

Speaks at Pittsburgh

Murray, the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) member who recently announced the launching of the first program for harnessing nuclear power as industrial power, made his H-bomb suggestion in a speech at Pittsburgh.

He said first-hand observation of an H-bomb's thunder "is an essential qualification for future negotiators of the great survival issues in the years ahead." Such an American showing, he added, might persuade the Russians to match it with a demonstration of their own.

Murray said the AEC hasn't yet studied the idea in detail or reached a decision.

Foreign observers were last admitted to a major atomic test at Bikini Atoll in the Pacific in 1946.

Bikini Site To Be Used

The AEC has announced without detail, that Bikini will be used in further atomic tests, supplementing the facilities of Eniwetok Atoll, used since 1948. There have been reports that the hydrogen test at Eniwetok last year disintegrated an island.

Murray said foreign observers again could witness a test "under very carefully controlled conditions of observation without loss of security."

This might mean they would be taken on a ship to a point within seeing distance of the explosion, but kept away from island installations of test equipment.

Marion's New Police Cruisers To Be Painted Black and White

Three police cruisers delivered to the city Tuesday will feature a color scheme new to Marion police cars when they are placed in service in the next few days.

In place of three all black cruisers with gold lettering now in service, the new cruisers will be painted black and white with red lettering reading "City of Marion, Police." The lettering will be of reflectorized paint so that it will glow at night when light rays from other automobile headlights strike it.

The cars will be painted white on top from the tops of the windshield to the bottom of the rear window.

Not only will the new cars be "dressed up" with a new color scheme, they are two of a make new to Marion police. They are 1953 model Chevrolets supplied by the Midtown Chevrolet Co. which submitted low bids for supplying the cars. They will replace three older model Fords now in service

Police Chief Tom Coon said the purpose of painting the cars in the new color scheme was to give them a more "dressed up" appearance and to follow present day trend in giving police cars a distinctive color scheme.

One of the new cruisers will be designated as a traffic enforcement cruiser. It will be used mainly in the task of traffic control while the other two will be used for all types of assignments and patrol work in the city.

The police department operates a total of seven motor vehicles including one three-wheeled motorcycle No change in the color scheme of the other vehicles is contemplated, Coon said

Green Camp School Board Discusses Plans for Football

Mrs. Teresa McLaughlin was employed as assistant janitor of the Green Camp School at the November meeting of the board. She succeeds Walter S Gould, resigned

Coach M M Young discussed the possibility of Green Camp having a six-man football team The matter will be presented at the next PTA meeting and then at a meeting of parents from grades six through twelve If it is decided to go ahead with the formation of a team, Prospect Pleasant, Morral and Green Camp would form their own league for a two-year period before applying for admission in the already existing county football league None of the above mentioned schools now have a football team.

No school will be held on Thanksgiving day nor the day after.

Ruby Van Nevs was released from Marion city schools to attend school here, and Shirley Shaw transferred from here to Marion, Superintendent N C. Roettger reported

California Sunshine

The Republicans needed the victory their official candidate won in California's 24th congressional district last Tuesday

They needed it for the sake of their skinny majority in the House of Representatives and for the sake of their political morale

Unaccustomed as they are to being on the defensive, congressional losses in Wisconsin and New Jersey had given them the shakes The skilled needlers of the opposition had been making the most of Republican nervousness

The danger in this was the possibility that leading Republicans would lose what political poise they have developed since their triumph in 1952 and rely on a hysterical revival of McCarthyism to win votes

That was what the opposition would have liked Nothing would have been more hurtful to the GOP's long-range prospects of usefulness than a half-baked scheme for buying farm votes because Wisconsin voters in one congressional district had supported a Democratic 'progressive' instead of an Eisenhower loyalist It was omitted in post-mortem reports on this contest that Wisconsin voters, true to the LaFollette tradition, are 'progressives" before they are Republicans or Democrats

The winner in California Gienard P Lipscomb was running against the odds. He had to lick another Republican running as an independent, an organization Democrat and an insurgent candidate running for himself The Democrat was a party hot-shot who had been imported for the specific purpose of taking it away from the Republicans

Official Republican palms can be dried off now while official Republicans try to figure out the folly of being pell-mell led to a revival of McCarthyism in hope of winning votes

The party got back into power by throwing McCarthy overboard It will stay in power by keeping it there

Five Unwanted Ships

The U S Navy has a non-nautical problem all of us can share What do you do with keepsakes no one wants?

The Navy has five historic ships rotting and rusting in Atlantic backwaters They are the Constitution, Constellation, Hartford, Olympia and Oregon

All of them have soaked up Federal funds for maintenance and repair which could have been used better for practical purposes. One of them the Constitution, has been rebuilt four times The Navy wants Congress to decide what should be done now

The Navy could give the ships away if someone wanted them badly enough to pay for taking them off its hands But as it is, the ships have no takers

Yet if the Navy junked them outright there would be a howl of indignation from those who contend every bit of historic interest should be preserved That happened more than 100 years ago when the Navy tried to dispose of the Constitution and stirred up Oliver Wendell Holmes

Preserving old ships is an impossibility Ships are perishable and must be endlessly rebuilt to keep them afloat It is only the records of battles in which gallant men used the ships which have permanence

The Navy admits it doesn't know what to do with its five marine keepsakes The rest of us wouldn't know either That's why our houses are cluttered with stuff we lack the courage to throw away

Getting the Mental Range

Next week hundreds of thousands of men and boys will celebrate the opening of another hunting season Women and girls will share the fun

But it will not be funny when the hunters shoot one another

There will be no sport in mangled bodies and sudden death Yet it is bound to happen It is as predictable as highway accidents — and for the same reason

Too many hunters never get the mental range They fail to realize the danger implicit in the very act of going hunting

They lack sufficient knowledge of guns, the use of guns and the game they hunt They do not understand the proprieties of decent behavior toward their fellowmen and especially toward rural residents, who dread the opening of hunting season because it dumps dozens of reckless armed people into their midst

Here's wishing hunters the time of their lives when the season opens next week Here's hoping they'll organize their thoughts about hunting along with their hunting kit

Cleanup Long Overdue

By David Lawrence

Years of Public Agitation Begin To Bear Fruit

Some new expressions have become a part of the political vocabulary of the hour

It was supposed, for instance to be "bad timing" and 'low politics' for Attorney General Brownell—or at least so the Democratic national chairman says—to declare that, although Harry Dexter White was a Russian spy " he had been nominated in 1946 to a high post by former President Truman

Apparently it wasn't 'bad timing or "low politics" for Robert F Wagner Jr, successful Democratic candidate for mayor of New York City, to make a sweeping charge that an influential person, high in the Eisenhower administration, has asked Gov Dewey to parole Joseph S Fay, labor leader convicted of extortion

Mr Wagner, who received the plaudits of Mr. Truman when he was elected last week, had referred—without naming him—to one of Gov. Dewey's "closest political associates on the national scene and "a national figure whose every word and action carries tremendous weight throughout the country '

THERE WAS no complaint from the Democratic chieftains then that this was a smear attack even though the plain inference was that the reference was to somebody in the Eisenhower cabinet—in fact, it was taken by many people to mean Attorney General Brownell, and rumor was that the incident happened when he was in private law practice

Mr Brownell promptly denied that he had at any time directly or indirectly interceded for Fay Yet no apology came from the Democrats The Wagner statement was never withdrawn

Nor did it seem to be "low politics' from the standpoint of the Democratic national chairman last year to stand by and let President Truman make campaign speeches which cast doubt on the integrity, if not the loyalty, of Gen Eisenhower

Instead the Democrats enthusiastically cried out, 'Give 'em hell, Harry '

Now the former president is on the receiving end of the give-'em-hell strategy If indeed it is something political and only in the interests of one party to expose Communist spies and how they get promoted inside our government.

MR. TRUMAN'S friends are arguing that it isn't dignified or right to subpoena a former president and that it would have been better to ask him to appear as a matter of courtesy

That would have been a desirable courtesy, but testimony under oath is sought from all witnesses when information of great importance to the nation is needed by congressional committees

As for "courtesy" however it will be recalled that Mr Truman fired Gen MacArthur without a hearing and by a public message given to the radio

There wasn't much "courtesy" when he fired Adm Denfeld Both were fired for political reasons

The former president ought to be the last to complain about the way the White controversy has developed. He himself first gave it momentum by saying he didn't recall the FBI report and that he "fired' White as soon as his disloyalty was discovered

THE FACTS now turn out to be that there was quite a lot of fuss inside the administration about it and that at the time—February 1946—James F. Byrnes, then secretary of state and now governor of South Carolina discussed the whole thing with Mr Truman, saying he was well aware that the FBI had reported White to be a member of the Soviet espionage ring

A theory has been advanced that Mr Truman may not have wanted to expose White at the time when the FBI report reached him, preferring to have the investigative process continued

There is no record of such a course of action in the Department of Justice But even if this were so then why did Mr Truman on April 30 1946 send such a complimentary letter to White when he resigned as assistant secretary of the treasury to take the post of U S director of the International Monetary Fund?

THE MOST plausible explanation is that Mr Truman, like so many people in his administration, was gullible and that someone in whom he did have confidence probably went to bat for White and flatly denied the truth of the charges

It has been suggested also that Mr Truman couldn't at that time —February 1946—determine the guilt or innocence of White, since there had been no trial or indictment

This is a widely held fallacy—for employment in the government of the United States is not a right but a privilege

The FBI report had in it enough testimony to have brought about dismissal from the government.

TODAY, although the president of Harvard University for instance says that refusal by a professor to testify before a congressional committee on the ground of self incrimination is not a 'confession of guilt' and hence does not merit dismissal by Harvard, President Eisenhower has ordered that any government employe who takes refuge in the Fifth Amendment and refuses to say whether he is a Communist or has been engaged in espionage must be instantly fired from the government service

The record on Harry Dexter White was such that had he come up today for appointment or continuance in office the existing rules would have barred him from further employment

One wonders what it took so many years of public agitation concerning the blunders of the Truman administration to bring about the cleanup which the Eisenhower administration has just begun in response to a mandate from the people at the election a year ago

(New York Herald Tribune)

Objective

Civil Service Balks GOP Administration

By Edward K. Nellor

Not all the accusations hurled at the Eisenhower administration charging abuses of the Civil Service system are accurate, warranted or realistic

Despite these obvious facts as any examination of the Civil Service system reveals — members of the President's official family have taken an ostrichlike approach to the problem by refusing to challenge the inaccurate attacks.

In fact the President has been called upon repeatedly to reaffirm his belief in the Civil Service system and to proclaim his intentions of preserving it if not in its present form, as nearly so as possible

The National Civil Service League, a sort of civil service holding company for government workers, asserts that the morale of career federal employes is at its lowest ebb in history.

THE ORGANIZATION which represents thousands of Civil Service employes, failed, however to raise a word of caution when previous administrations were creating the situation that led to today's morass of fears, inequities and misunderstandings

From statements, speeches and letters to the editor appearing in Washington newspapers the hub of Civil Service employe complaints it is plain that almost all civil service employes consider themselves career workers and therefore untouchable by political considerations

This, of course is the goal of an effective Civil Service system, but one that is far from attainment under present rules and regulations—none of which have been promulgated by the present Republican administration

There are thousands of able dedicated government career employes who have worked long and faithfully as public servants, aloof from politics

THERE ARE ALSO thousands of entrenched bureaucrats who have with the aid of a willing boss in the White House, manipulated their jobs into career status, where by adroit procedures they have attached themselves to top-salaries jobs

They remain there today hurling charges of unfairness at the present administration

What are the facts? Civil Service employe organizations have excellent sounding boards for presenting their views and complaints Only a feeble stab has been made at repiying to critics of the present Civil Service setup—critics who are patronage hungry as well as those dedicated to good government.

The most recent attempt to balance the complaints of Civil Service employes against the charges of their critics was made by an assistant to the president of the Ford Foundation.

He is Bernard I Gaudeux, a long-time government employe, who has had a chance since leaving federal service to take a long-range look at what is going on

HIS CONCLUSIONS, while his own are supported by findings from an independent investigation plus numerous conversations with government officials involved in the current fracas The findings are

1— That the Civil Service system emphasize job security and the vested rights of federal employes, without considering the public interest in fair juxtaposition with the career needs of government employes

2—There is too little emphasis on personnel management. Civil Service concentrates on employes and their interests, without honest concern for the interests of the manager

3—Personnel administration is often overorganized and places the administrator and government in procedural strait jacket

Due to these abuses most of the top government administrators, from cabinet officers on down, throw up their hands in frustrated disgust, thereby abandoning the basic objective of good management — close supervision and control over the employe.

THE TRUMAN administration overextended Civil Service coverage and in Gladieux's opinion, "added to the rigidities of Civil Service regulations contributed to the doctrine of entrenchment and reverted to some of the more obtrusive practices of the patronage philosophy "

Instead of balking at attempts by the administration to secure the right of appointment of policy officials better personnel management practices and rigid standards of loyalty and competence, the Civil Service should be cooperating if it seeks to maintain high standards for career employes of the government

This is the inescapable conclusion revealed from an examination of present Civil Service practices and from the complaints and pressures directed at the White House and elsewhere

Brussels Sprouts

By TRUMAN TWILL

A friend of ours recently returned from England with his confirmation of a rumor that English food is inedible by American standards

She says she and her friends who were traveling together would order this, that and the other thing in the hotels where they stayed in London, unwilling to believe the search for quality was futile

But it was And now there comes to hand a special dispatch to The New York Times which puts a new light on the matter.

Since the mystery of England's unbelievably low culinary standard has baffled every American who has traveled in England and every one who would like to visit that country some day, the new light is passed on herewith

It appears that in the old days before Britons began to share the poverty they bought nothing but the best cuts of beef, the best vegetables and so on

They never were forced by adversity to conceal the low quality of their foodstuffs by developing piquant sauces to mask the putridity of the meat for example It is worth remembering in this connection that Columbus discovered the New World by accident while looking for a new trade route to the Old in behalf of the spice trade

The spice trade was making a killing in those far - off days of no refrigeration and no pasteurization All the geese hung high Everything stunk to high heaven in spades It took tons of cloves to cover up the stench

But when the British built their empire and learned how to hold the balance of power they began to eat high on the hog The raw materials for their cookery were so good they didn't have to spend time in the kitchen

Impoverishment after two wars caught them with their kettles down All of a sudden they needed good cooks desperately and didn't have any As the quality of their raw materials went from bad to worse the finished product went from bad to inedible

What always had been pilloried by foreign cookery standards finally became so bad that even British consumers began to revolt

The New York Times dispatch says something is being belatedly and slowly done about British cooking Those awful Brussels sprouts which have turned many a traveler's stomach are being flossed up, for example

As a matter of fact a Brussels sprout couldn't be any worse than a wad of boiled greens a la southern cooking right here in the United States But since the time of Charles Dickens few Britons have gone far enough into the interior of the United States to discover how inedible our food can be

The reason for this is the same as the reason for the inedibility of English food In the midst of plenty with lots of nourishing raw materials available for the taking there is no premium on for good cooks

The lily needs no gilding

If it ever happens that the going gets as tough here in the grocery department as it has been in England who is going to know how to conceal the poor quality of the raw materials?

That's why in the kitchen? The one who runs the can opener?

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Money was scarce in the family of Jacob F Gracely, and the head of the family often found it necessary to walk to Columbus where he would work by the day at his trade of carpenter and cabinet maker He also made coffins His wife, when left alone in the clearing in which the Gracely cabin stood often had to build a fire in front of the house to drive the wolves away A native of Germany he came to this country when a young man and purchased land in Richland Township

Cooler in Iceland

By MARK DANA

A quite casual telegraphic news dispatch the other day from Iceland provided a little semi-comic relief from portentous cables from Korea and Europe

It seems that the 150 000 inhabitants of the little near-Arctic republic of Iceland a country about the size of Indiana, with only one-seventh of its land tillable, are asserting their democratic traditions—as a teen-ager parades in his first long trousers Iceland has ideas, and wants bigger nations to know them

For one thing, the Icelanders want sent home all the U S civilians now working there with and for the U S Army—technicians geologists, airport construction crews, etc First, the natives want these jobs Second, the natives don't like for Americans to be wandering all over their country upsetting their economy and perhaps some of their home happiness as well, and making their people restless

If any country is to occupy Iceland as a defense post, the natives prefer Americans to Russians, but there are some Communists even in Iceland, and wherever there are Communists one may be sure quarreling will start, chiefly against Americans.

Most Icelanders may not realize it, but their bleak little isle makes a fine strategic stepping-stone for aerial steps over the ocean, and the American troops based there surely keep out other troops who might not be so generous about jobs

Also, surely not even the Communist residents there would allege that the U S is trying to swallow up the country or set up a puppet state there

Daily Bible Thought

Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning that they may follow strong drink —Isaiah 5 11 Paul suggested a little wine for stomach disorders Far, far too many abuse the freedom God has given us This brings woe to the drunkard and to his loved ones.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Call for Showmanship

Dear Mr. President Dismiss most of the postmortems on the recent elections and act on this tip you have got to dramatize your act. 'Hamming it up" is against all your instincts and you hate to strut or follow the "I'm the star around here' system But this is an age of global high drama, sensational procedures and superproductions when no man hoping to hold his audience can sell showmanship short.

You are a top star in a world situation packed with action color and suspense But you have been acting as if you were playing in a sketch called Resistant Along the Potomac or 'Through the Ballot Will Patience and Fortitude'

It's nice to know that you put emphasis on thoughtfulness, study and conference Balance, dignity and modesty are swell qualities But this is an era of high powered showmanship and command performances on all levels of life As Variety would put it, Ya gotta have socko and box-office appeal

In your first year you seem to be standing in the wings, letting everybody else get into the act This is no talent scout program The White House is no casting office where 'tryouts' are held

You're in one of the greatest shows of history and even if it's against your natural impulses, you have got to go for audience reaction Make this the Eisenhower Show of Shows" not the Sextette From Lucia'

The people are crazy over show biz TV has hopped up the public to a point where it demands the Dramatic approach to everything Never was it more true that all the world's a stage

You've got the drama the situation the script, the prestige the scenic effects, the special lighting and the big audience

All you need do to win friends and influence people is to give a glowing performance get the hot notices and make the show a sellout.

Being President is top drama, not a tableau by the Kiwanis Club

Don't forget that for the last twenty years the American voters have been trained to expect showmanship at the White House It was overdone Things often got 'too hammy Nevertheless, the rank and file of voters still expect production numbers

Deep thinking calm reflection and staff conferences are all right Your friends are glad you lack baloney content Just the same, Ike, you've got to be more of a showman You've been in dramatic roles all your life You've been a national hero You've directed his been as exciting as any TV thriller

As President you're not making the most of the world's greatest drama 'Where Do We Go From Here ' There is no drama in routine budget discussions It's hard to put zip-pep into a farm problem But you've got to give a better production and let nobody forget you are the star actor in the leading role

Let the public know you are "Top Banana" It's mandatory Voters are not voters any more; they are drama critics

As ever
Elmer

Now it's the "Television Bank " A big New York bank has opened a branch in Rockefeller Center which it runs via TV from its main headquarters miles away It enables the use of small quarters and minimum help for branch offices Main office coordinates with branch by video at all times and does most of the recording etc

Customer may be expected to wave at the main office while depositing and insist on a closeup at the teller's window There will be depositors who will think they should get a prize of some kind Let's not even get around to demanding that their deposit be taken by a PANEL

Ultimately they may have a garrulous master of ceremonies welcoming each bank customer with "And now that glamorous that talented, that charming and beautiful depositor, Mrs. Arabella Gunch!"

Bob Wagner's middle name is 'Ferdinand" Ob golly!

Eclipse of Moon One of Events On Observatory Guest Program

Special to The Star

DELAWARE — Total eclipse of the moon on Jan. 18 is included among eight guest nights planned as part of the public education services of the Perkins Observatory, owned by Ohio Wesleyan University and operated jointly with Ohio State University.

Weather permitting, visitors may observe not only the total phases of the lunar eclipse but the moon's progress into the shadow of the earth.

On the next guest night, Nov. 23, the audience will see Cluster M2 and the moon. Dec. 14 will see the Pleiades, and the planet Jupiter and the moon will be viewed on Feb. 15. Jupiter and the moon will also be seen on March 8 and April 12 with Cluster M3 and Saturn being observed May 3 and June 14.

All guest nights will begin at 8 p.m. with the exception of Jan. 18, the evening of the total eclipse of the moon. That night the program will begin at 7:30 p.m.

If conditions are favorable for observation, the objects named on the program will be shown on the dates listed, one through the five-inch refractor and the other through the sixty-nine inch reflector.

During the observing period, an informal talk about the objects on view, usually illustrated with lantern slides, is given in the telescope dome, and on Guest Nights the principal constellations of the season are pointed out from the observing roof.

In case of unfavorable weather an illustrated lecture in the Lecture Hall is followed by a complete demonstration of the working of the great reflector.

One hundred guests (individuals, families, adult groups) can be accomodated each Guest Night but the demand so far exceeds this number that admission must be by ticket only. Applications for reservations should be addressed to the Secretary of the Perkins Observatory, Delaware, O. There is no charge for tickets, but a s addressed stamped envelope should accompany the request.

The observatory, located on U. S. 23, four miles south of Delaware and 20 miles north of Columbus, is open to visitors from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday of each week, at which times the reflecting 69-inch telescope may be inspected.

Council at Galion Okays Ordinances

Special to The Star

GALION—Legislation that had been pending from last week was considered at an adjourned meeting of City Council, Tuesday night.

Two ordinances were passed by suspending the rules. These pertained to installation of a garbage grinder and parts and materials for the installation for the sewage disposal plant. The two ordinances were passed to change the original contract for the improvement and extension of the sewage treatment plant, so that the garbage grinder could be included. Money appropriated for this is within the original appropriation, and within the sum provided in the bond issue for the sewage treatment project. The ordinances were passed upon advice of City Solicitor Edward H. Jones. Another ordinance passed provides for the construction of 500-feet of sanitary sewer on Boston St. The work has already been completed.

To comply with recent action by the Board of Health of Galion to set up food inspection in Galion, Council passed a resolution establishing a health fund. All money from license fees of $20 each paid by a food service operator in Galion will be placed in the fund. Out of this will be paid $3 to the state department and the ramaining $17 of the license fee will be kept in the city to pay for expenses of a sanitary inspector and administration expenses.

Offer To Dismantle Ice Box Death Traps Made

CLEVELAND (AP) Members of the Refrigeration Service Engineers Society have volunteered to dismantle free any discarded refrigerators or ice boxes that may become death traps for youngsters at play.

The society, in concluding its convention here yesterday, made the offer of free labor and also approved a model law for state and local governments to eliminate the hazard.

In the United States this year 28 children have suffocated in abandoned refrigerators and ice boxes.

Christmas Program Set By Silver Street PTA

A Christmas program was planned for the next meeting on Dec. 15 when the Silver Street PTA held its second meeting of the season Tuesday in the school auditorium. The program will be given by pupils from grades two to six.

The program consisted of talks by Mrs. Thelma Wilcox and Miss Garnet Laird, religious education instructors of the Marion city schools.

During the business meeting it was voted to purchase magazines and playground equipment for the school, to help promote the sale of the booklet, "Your Marion," put out by the League of Women Voters, and to help with the sale of tickets for the Minstrel Show, "The Cotton Pickers," scheduled Nov. 18 and 19 at Edison Junior High School under sponsorship of the City PTA Council.

Mrs. Agnes Lutz's sixth grade won the award for having the most parents present.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dunnan were appointed to purchase the Christmas treats for the pupils of the school. A social hour with refreshments and the showing of a film on Mrs. Earline Christian on the re- closed the meeting.

Police Captain Out At Canton, Mayor Blames Interfering

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Carl F. Wise and former Mayor James M. Seccombe, both Republicans, blamed each other today for the resignation yesterday of Police Capt. Joseph H. Pence, a veteran of 32 years on the force.

Pence, now 58, gave no reason for quitting in his written resignation, to become effective Nov. 19. He will go on sick leave until then and on retirement will draw a pension of more than $200 a month.

Mayor Wise blamed Seccombe, a former congressman and now Stark County Election Board clerk, with interfering in the arrest of Seccombe's son, James Jr. 28 last Friday. Seccombe called Wise's charge "ridiculous" and said he "did nothing in any way to interfere with any police officer and asked no favors from anyone."

The younger Seccombe was charged with disturbing the peace by two patrolmen who arrested him at a restaurant. He pleaded guilty to that charge yesterday and was fined $25 in municipal court.

Vote To Strike Was Illegal, Unionist Says

3-Week-Old Walkout At North American Company Challenged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A man identifying himself as a member of the union which struck the Columbus plant of North American Aviation, Inc., three weeks ago announced today he is challenging the strike action.

L. M. Latshaw of Columbus said he has appealed to the executive board of the CIO - United Auto Workers Union on grounds the vote which authorized the strike was in violation of te union's constitution.

He contends the strike vote taken at the Ohio State Fairgrounds Oct. 23 was by a show of hands, "clearly in violation of the constitution," and illegal because no effort was made to determine eligibility of those who participated in the voting.

Latshaw said his appeal to the executive board asks the board to "set aside or otherwise nullify the strike."

This development in the strike of some 12,500 production workers at the big plants which makes Sabre jets come against a background of conflicting claims on the success of a back-to-work-movement among the strikers.

C. J. Gallant, vice president and general manager of the Columbus plant, said 2,564 production workers reported to work Wednesday.

A union spokesman replied the figure is exaggerated. Said Warren Pate, recording secretary of Local 927:

"North American management is ducking its responsibility to the American taxpayers by refusing to let newsmen get to the bottom of the company's fantastic claims of the number of people doing production work.

"The company has erected an iron curtain to hide waste of the taxpayers' dollars which pay for boondoggling by thousands of office workers. There is no logical reason why observant newsmen accompanied by veteran workers from the union and company officials, could not tour the North American assembly lines and question anybody at random."

Some 5,000 clerical, engineering, plant protection and cafeteria workers are not affected by the strike.

Wildlife Columnist Speaks to Foremen

Don Mack, wildlife columnist for the Ohio State Journal, addressed members of the Marion Foremen's Club at Columbian Hall Wednesday night. Marion Power Shovel Night was observed.

Mack's talk concerned hunting and fishing. He also showed movies on wildlife.

John Courtright, president of the Marion Power Shovel Co., spoke in appreciation of the good work of the club.

Educational chairman Emil Lisak, supervisor of trades and industry at Harding High School, announced a five-week course on industrial psychology with instruction by Dr. Allan Schmuller, school psychologist. Sponsored by the Foremen's Club, the course will start Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

It was also announced that the club was arranging for a plant visitation of the Ternsted plant of General Motors in Columbus at an early date. Charles Ziegler, vice president of the club, presided in the absence of Paul Shelton, president.

Engineers' Society Hears Explanation Of Atomic Energy

Guest speaker at a meeting of Marion Chapter, Ohio Society of Professional Engineers, Monday night in the YMCA was A. C. Summers of Ft. Wayne, Ind., laboratory manager of the General Electric Co. there.

He showed movies and slides to explain the theory and show the tremendous forces behind atomic energy and the A-bomb.

Summers also gave a brief history of the developments leading to the atomic bomb. He explained that Einstein's theory, developed years ago and which states that all mass will release energy equivalent to its mass times the speed of light squared or E equads MC2, is the basic theory that gave scientists the information leading to the bomb development. He further stated that as a result of Hitler's purges of Jews he lost to Germany one great woman physicist who developed the first practical method of bombarding basic elements with electrons to change one element to another and thereby release tremendous amounts of atomic energy. This woman, Dr. Meitner, formerly of Whilhelm Institute of Berlin, thought of this world-important process while on the train leaving Germany as an exile. Possibly a few more months in Germany under free conditions would have given the Germans the A-bmob first instead of the United States.

To give an idea of the A-bomb's power, Summers said the Yankee Stadium filled with dynamite, if exploded, would release the same amount of atomic energy available in an amount of uranium approximately equal in size to an ordinary baseball.

C. R. Hanes, state vice president of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers, attended this meeting. He outlined the society's position concerning the controversial question of unionization of engineers. H. P. Lewis of the General Electric Company, Columbus, O., office was also a guest.

The next meeting of the Marion Chapter will be Monday, Dec. 14, at the Y.

150 From County Tour Breeders Farm in Tiffin

Some 150 persons from Marion County attended Marion County Day at the Northern Ohio Artificial Breeders Association cattle farm in Tiffin Tuesday. Ellwood Parrott of the Agricultural Extension Service reported most of persons attending were vocational agriculture members of county Future Farmers of America chapters.

It was the largest crowd ever to attend the affair from Marion County.

The program began at 11 a.m. when the visitors gathered for a general tour of the farm and after lunch, a general session explaining the operation of the farm was held.

Man Fined $100, Jailed

Lamer E. Wood, 36, of 197½ S. Prospect St., was sentenced to five days in the county jail, was fined $100 and costs and had his driver's license suspended for three years, when he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court today to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Wood was arrested by state highway patrolmen on Route 4 at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Truman

President, and he said it was inconceivable to him that Truman knowingly would appoint a spy to high office.

Brownell himself followed up with a statement he had "no intention of impugning the loyalty of any high official of the prior administration." But he said additional evidence just turned up seems to show beyond doubt that there was laxity in dealing with Communist infiltration of the government.

Chairman Velde (R-Ill) of the Un-American Activities Committee said that as soon as Representatives Donald Jackson (R-Calif and Doyle (D-Calif) arrive in Washington he will "call a meeting of all members to discuss the questions growing out of the coming hearings."

Orders From Committee

Rep. Walter of Pennsylvania, senior Democrat on the committee, said Velde was "getting his instructions" from the Republican National Committee. A GOP committee spokesman, without saying how he knew, said Velde was not expected at headquarters yesterday.

Officials there, however, made it plain they did not applaud the way Velde had hustled out subpoenas.

There were some indications, although no one was talking for publication, that the House group might wind up accepting a suggestion by Walter that any public hearings be put off until Congress reconvenes in January.

Hearings now, it was felt, might put Truman in the spotlight in the minds of many as a political martyr—but one who could be expected to come out fighting against charges he termed "ridiculous" when Brownell first made them.

Truman said then that White was fired, by being permitted to resign, as soon as it was found out that he was "wrong."

Byrnes on Hand

The House committee had also subpoenaed, for questioning today, Vaughan and Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, who was Truman's secretary of state at the time of White's promotion but is now his political foe. Velde said he would talk today to Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) of the internal security subcommittee about Vaughan.

As for Byrnes, he sent word he would ignore the subpoena. He said he didn't think the committee could force the governor of a state to come to Washington and stay around until it freed him.

Velde promptly accepted Byrnes' suggestion that a subcommittee go to Columbia, S. C., to question him there. Valde said a date would be set later.

Jenner's subcommittee had previously arranged to get written replies from Byrnes to two questions about the episode. Byrnes has said he was shocked to read an FBI report linking White to Communist activities and tried to persuade Truman to block the promotion.

Memo From Byrnes

Brownell, in his new statement yesterday, said he had received from the State Department a memo from Byrnes to Truman calling attention to a letter about White, with inclosures, from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. The memo, as released by Brownell, was dated Feb. 5, 1946, the day before the Senate confirmed White's appointment to the monetary fund post.

Brownell contended this proves that White's "espionage activities were known to the White House and other government agencies before Senate confirmation and before his promotion."

Brownell had said earlier that two FBI reports linking White to espionage were delivered to Vaughan at the White House and marked for the attention of Truman.

Vaughan, retired as a major general and living in nearby Alexandria, Va., has denied recollection of any such reports.

In the ruckus over House committee procedure, Democratic members contended Velde had broken the committee's own rules by ordering the subpoenas issued without polling his colleagues first. There were also demands that Brownell be heard first, to lay his charges on the record.

Mme. Pandit Says India Wants Right To Remain Neutral

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, president of the United Nations General Assembly, says India wants the right to remain neutral in the East-West conflict and live her own life.

India admires what America stands for, she told a meeting of Women in World Affairs yesterday, but "she doesn't want to be an imitation of you."

"She wants the right to decide her own life and to determine her own relation to the rest of the world," Mrs. Pandit continued. "Her way may not suit you. It may suit some one else. . . .

"Each country lives in its own way."

Harding High League Down To 3 Schools

The Buckeye League includes just three members today following an announcement yesterday that Fostoria has withdrawn.

The Fostoria withdrawal came just one day after Bowling Green announced its plans to step out of the six-team league. Tiffin Columbian quit after it was admitted to the Northern Ohio League last week.

The latest withdrawal leaves only Marion Harding, Findlay and Fremont Ross in the circuit. The annual league meeting is scheduled for Nov. 23 at Fostoria and it is expected the loop will be officially disbanded at that time.

Fostoria Principal O. K. Caldwell announced the withdrawal of his school. However, he said the Redmen will continue to play league members on a non-league basis.

Ashley's Officials Discover Hauling Water Is Expensive

Special to The Star

ASHLEY — Asaley village officials are beginning to think their troubles will never cease.

Available water department funds have been exhausted because of the critical water shortage which has necessitated hauling water in Marion Engineer Depot trucks from the Delaware reservoir. Cost of the "operation water haul" runs about $500 weekly. Some 30,000 gallons of water are being hauled daily to the Ashley processing plant.

The water haul operation has now exhausted the village's water department funds, forcing village officials to find other money to keep up the flow of water into the processing plant.

The critical water shortage came about several weeks ago when the three shallow wells which the village has depended upon for its water supply give out. There was not reserve supply.

Ashley Mayor Russell Nolting said that arrangements for borrowing money had been made at the Farmers Saving Bank in the village, but the Ohio Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices vetoed the loan. Bureau officials said that the proposed loan was illegal unless village officials could point to future revenue available for repayment. Because nearly all the water department revenue is required for actual operation, the village could not meet that condition. A disaster provision of the law, however, would wipe out the borrowing restriction holding up the state bureau's approval.

The situation was eased some Wednesday when the village secured an advance on the coming tax settlement from County Auditor James A. Samson. They received $1,200 or about enough to pay water hauling expenses for two weeks.

Three Drivers Arrested By Marion Policemen

Three arrests for traffic violations were reported by police this morning.

Melvin Pate, 31, of Dearborn, Mich., was arrested for speeding on N. Main St. at 9:07 a.m. yesterday. He posted bond for appearance in Municipal Court Saturday.

Glenn Smith, 47, of Warren, posted bond for appearance in Municipal Court today after being arrested for unsafe operation on E. Church St. at 2:32 p.m. yesterday. Police reported that the car was so full of pottery that there was barely enough room for the driver.

Harvey H. Blizzard, 33, of Detroit, Mich., was arrested for passing in a no-passing zone on N. Main St. at 4:27 yesterday afternoon. He was cited for appearance in Municipal Court today.

Mishaps

east-bound car driven by Otto C. Schlientz, 68, of 310 Hane Ave., collided with a south-bound car driven by Oscar William Ruth, 60, of 816 Mt. Vernon Ave.

The Schlientz car received only light damage to the left rear and the Ruth car was undamaged.

Truck, Auto Collide

One accident was reported this morning by state patrolmen from the Marion post. It was a two-car collision on U. S. Route 23 three and one-half miles south of Marion at 2:05 a.m. this morning.

A southbound truck owned by the CCC Trucking Company and driven by Walter F. Etson of Latonia Lakes, Ky., and a northbound automobile driven by Leonard R. Blevins, 22, of 233 Bellevue Ave. collided head-on.

The truck was moderately damaged in the front end. Patrol reports show the car was demolished, but neither driver injured. Blevins was given a citation to appear in Municipal Court Friday to answer a charge of driving to the left of center.

Until after 1700, it is believed that all iron smelting was done with wood charcoal.

Sale of Horses Prevented by Court Order

Sale of three race horses scheduled for today at the Marion County Fairgrounds was prevented this morning by the serving of an injunction from Common Pleas Court.

The injunction was granted Tuesday on a petition filed by Roy Warren Roof of Kenton, owner of the horses. He sought to restrain James France, trainer and driver of the horses, from carrying out the sale.

The petition claims that France had been employed for the last four years by Roof as a trainer and driver of Roof's race horses. During the month of July, while France was attending and driving four of the plaintiff's race horses at Grandview Race track in Solon, O., Roof discharged France and asked him to deliver the four horses and equipment to Roof's farm in Logan County, the petition states.

Instead, the petition alleges, France took the horses to the Marion County Fair where he entered three of them, "without the knowledge and consent" of Roof. In addition, France raced the horses in various other races, and in the latter part of October returned them to the Marion County Fairgrounds, and "has refused to deliver them to the plaintiff," the petition contends.

Roof claims France has refused to render an accounting of the horses' earnings during the 1953 racing season, and accepted and cashed earnings checks made out to Roof.

In addition to the injunction, the action requested the defendant make an accounting for "all monies received by him from July until November," and $5,000 for punitive damages and costs of the action.

The horses in question are named Student Prince, Venus De-Milo, and Columbus.

On Oct. 30, France advertised the horses for sale "to satisfy the lien of James France for feed and labor furnished by him" for the horses in the amount of $3,210 for a period time ten days prior to the Nov. 12 date set for the sale.

GRASS FIRE PUT OUT

A grass fire near 241 Owens St. was the only call received by the fire department yesterday. Firemen from the Mark St. station answered the call at 2:48 p.m. Neighbors had been burning rubbish and the fire spread to a field. There was no loss.

Drive Opened By Alumni of Ohio University

To launch an Ohio University Alumni Sesquicentennial Scholarship Fund drive in Marion County, "old grads" from Marion forming the campaign committee met Tuesday night with Prof. L. C. Staats, and Prof. Donald Logan of the university at the home of Carroll Bachelder of 1085 Ubler Rd. Mr. Bachelder and Mrs. Fred Artz of 369 N. Main St. head the committee.

Giving Marion County's Ohio U. alumni an opportunity to express loyalty and appreciation to the alma mater as well as to have a share in aiding the education of deserving students will be the work of the committee. They will call at the homes of the university's former students for contributions to the scholarship fund project.

Prof. Staats, himself a member of the alumni, explained the scholarship project conceived by the alumni council as a fitting means of celebrating the 150th anniversary of the university's founding in 1804.

The $150,000 to be paid over a period of three years into an irreducible fund for the purpose will provide 60 scholarships a year. Names of all contributors will be placed on an honor roll, a leather-bound parchment volume to be placed in the university's permanent archives, listed alphabetically, and each donor will receive a certificate suitable for framing. Large gifts will be designated as "Loyalty Gifts," "Honor Gifts," and "Memorial Gifts," according to size, and will be listed on a bronze plaque placed in the Alumni Lounge of the new student center on the campus.

The Marion County committee includes besides the co-chairman, Miss Barbara Fralich, Miss Marjorie Williams, Miss Betty Houser, Miss Marilyn Howald, Miss Elaine Ballinger, and William LeMasters and William H. Pohler.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

Some of the oil producing states, such as Texas and New Mexico, have tied their educational budget to the production of oil. The states generally receive a one-eighth royalty. If oil is plentifully produced, the schools are plentifully provisioned. The present general reduction in oil production (allowables, as it is called) is imperilling school budgets in those states.

SOKOLSKY

The petroleum industry of Texas, for instance, provides 37.8 per cent of the available school fund; 54.4 per cent of the foundation school fund; and 58.5 per cent of the teacher's retirement fund.

-:-

OBVIOUSLY, a sharp reduction of oil production can cripple these funds. The present cut-down of allowables is attributed to the import of foreign oil in an overextended world market, which became overextended during the war years and has never adjusted to peacetime needs.

In California, there is a shortage of oil production, but there is no pipeline between California and West Texas and the adjacent oil producing areas.

So Texas oil is shipped from Houston, through the Panama Canal, up to Los Angeles by tanker, a distance of 8,812 miles, which makes that oil too expensive for California.

A pipeline would reduce the distance to 55 miles and is a less expensive way to move this product.

Oil for the West Coast comes from the Middle and Near East, Venezuela, Sumatra, Borneo, and from Texas in tankers.

A recent development, not yet completed, is to bring oil from West Canada, by pipeline, to a refinery at Bellingham, Wash.

-:-

CANADIAN production is in an early stage and does not yet amount to much, but the Canadians are hopeful that their fields will develop enormously and will expand far beyond Canada's capacity to consume oil, thus providing that country with another export product.

Canada views its exports realistically, seeking always to develop a favorable trade balance.

The Texas oil men naturally raise the propagandistic argument that California consumers ought to prefer Texas to Canada, if for no other reason than they happen to be Americans just as the Californians are.

That used to be a good argument about anything, but in these days of internationalism, it would seem to be a liability, because it is a part of the current do-good policy to favor foreigners at the expense of Americans.

In fact, it has often been suggested in recent years that the way to solve this paradox of importing from abroad commodities of which we have much or even too much at home is to lower the tariff, to import plentifully from abroad and to give the American producer a dole.

AFTER ALL, the argument runs, we give a subsidy to the farmers not to produce, why not give the American businessman a subsidy not to produce? And why not give American labor a dole if it agrees not to work?

Some of those who are so enthusiastically supporting the dole idea for business that might become distressed because of easy imports into this country, fought bitterly against doles for other segments of the population in distress.

Although mere consistency is not a virtue, the record ought to be stated.

The anti-social character of their argument should be obvious, but it is not to the internationalists who are more concerned about Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Borneo than they are about Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

It is a theory of self-flagellation in the economic field and produces a self-righteous glow among those enormously important businessmen whose investments are universal and whose interests know no nationality.

-:-

WE HAVE learned in two wars what the submarine can do and now we need to add the efficient airplane and the atom bombs and atom guns to the submarine.

Therefore it must be assumed that in time of war, our safest course is to be as self-sufficient as possible.

Certainly we need not import oil. It might be argued that if production is reduced in the United States and is increased abroad, the amount of oil available to the United States will be greater.

How are we going to bring oil to the United States in tankers across the Pacific Ocean, to say nothing of the Atlantic: What will the enemy's schnorkle submarines be doing to our tankers?

Internationalism can do great mischief when we move away from grandiose phrases and get down to hardpan.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

CINCINNATI

With apologies to my favorite cop Joe Friday of Dragnet:

The facts, that's what we want, just the facts. They tell the story.

RIESEL

About the strong. About the weak. All are judged alike by the facts. They indict. They reprieve. They excuse.

For weeks, ever since I heard the President of the U. S. called a liar by ex-Labor Secretary Martin Durkin, I've ripped through the countryside seeking to learn by what standards that man, who charged he was double-crossed by President Eisenhower, lives and governs his own organization.

Martin Durkin is a silent man. Seldom speaks. Seldom answers letters. You've got to find out for yourself. Just the facts. Here are some I've just toured the atomic energy installation country:

-:-

MARTIN DURKIN is a well paid union executive. As president of the country's Plumbers and Pipefitters Union; he earns $20,000 a year and receives $275 additional each week in untaxable expenses, a total of $34,300 annually.

For this he runs a union without which no A-Bomb, no H-Bomb, no naval or military installation could be built. Yet it is a union which has gone unpoliced by its national officers.

I have reported the indictment of some of its most powerful officials in St. Louis—for shakedowns.

Now my colleagues on the crusading Charleston, W. Va., Gazette—a paper which has supported Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman—charge flatly that there is racketeering in this influential union.

The Gazette has discovered that laxity in the union has resulted in the supplying of barbers, used car salesmen and other non-qualified technicians to our atomic and hydrogen bomb installations as plumbers and pipefitters. Work on these vital weapons suffered. The cost increased.

-:-

THE BARBERS and used car salesman—"Joe McGees and appleknockers", the skilled workers call them—were able to buy their cards in the union without qualifying. This was fraudulent.

Union card holders must have five years training for this type of work. The life of the nation depends on its atomic weapons. These "appleknockers" were not doing us any good.

West Virginia officials investigating criminal violation in connection with the sale of union membership books have obtained at least 80 statements from men who said the purchased these books as you would buy soap in a supermarket. They had a price.

About $250 a book, sworn affidavits attest. This was discovered when government agents began running security checks in nearby atomic plants. They found falsified records.

Not only are these union cards being sold in West Virginia, but authorities have traced the system to the H-bomb plant going up at Aiken, S. C.; to Wilmington, Del.; Hagerstown, Md., and Corpus Christi, Tex.

-:-

SOME OF THE union's business agents in West Virginia actually had a solicitor in Kentucky, across the river from here, who got a flat $5 fee for each "appleknocker" to whom he could sell a union membership card.

It was estimated that in Aiken alone, some 5,000 cards were sold to men who didn't rate them at the H-bomb plant.

Rebellious members of the Portsmouth, O., local reported that work on the $1,219,000,000 gaseous diffusion (atomic) plant being constructed there was "so bad" that the authorities shifted the labor jurisdiction from the Portsmouth union to the Cleveland local.

Now let's move to Cleveland. Naturally, the Cleveland local also needed a headquarters close to the job site, which is near the hamlet of Piketon, halfway between Chillicothe and Portsmouth. This is some 200 miles from Cleveland. Union members were told that a small restaurant building in Waverly, O. (some five miles from Piketon) was purchased for $30,000.

-:-

THE NATIONAL office in Washington was not going to pay for it. The local headquarters in Cleveland was not going to pay for it.

The workers at the gaseous diffusion plant were going to pay for it. At a $1 a week assessment.

A dollar a week is not much. Unless it comes from some 5,000 members who have come from across the land to earn their daily bread while living in trailers and makeshift homes.

A dollar a week from 5,000 men is $20,000 a month. Some men have been paying by check. They say they have paid for six weeks or more.

They also say they pay from $3 to $7 a month in regular dues. There are also initiation fees.

These men have certainly paid for the privilege of working on a project designed to defend the democracy about which Mr. Durkin talks so much.

This makes the workers unhappy. Find the facts. They tell the story.

Slight Oversight

By Laura Hobson

In one of New York's famous department stores I bought a dozen imported damask dinner napkins for a shocking $30. In the monogram book, I fell hard for an old-fashioned three-letter design, nice and curly and complicated. I asked the salesgirl how much that would add.

HOBSON

"No 304 A," she said. "Hand worked. That'll be $36 the dozen."

"And for the monogram?"

"And the 36," she said, "$66 all together. Plus tax."

-:-

SHE FLIPPED her salesbook open but I said, "Hold it. I have to think." She held it, giving me one of those looks salesgirls give customers who pause over $66 plus tax for a dozen napkins.

"Would it be possible," I asked after a bit, "to have the design stamped on the napkins, just the design? I have this wonderful little woman here who does the finest embroidery."

"Stamping only," she said "would be $3. Two week delivery on stamping."

"Good," I said, and as she wrote out the charge order for the napkins and 304 A, stamping only, I felt very great.

-:-

MY ROSA worked very fast and wouldn't charge me more than a dollar each. Thirty, plus three, plus twelve—I should have my head examined anyway, but I had to catch up on some business entertaining and damask lasts forever.

Off I went lined up everything with Rosa, flipped my calendar pages to the proper date and wrote, "naps."

The day arrived, no naps. The next day, two days, three. I phoned the store. I was switched to adjustments.

Adjustments made me tell everything twice over.

That afternoon the doorbell rang. I was handed a large flat carton. Inside it was a large flat box, gorgeous in gift wrappings. I had a feeling and braced myself.

-:-

SURE ENOUGH, under the fancy wrappings, folded in triangles and placed long edge to long edge so you could see four at once, there they were — every last one monogrammed to the teeth. Not just the purple ink stamping but the work all done, so fat and curly and complicated you could bruise your thumb feeling it.

Under the last layer was the charge slip. $66 plus $1.98 tax.

I didn't even reach for the phone. I recognize a giftime crisis when I'm in one, downtown I went in a hot taxi.

The salesgirl counted the napkins as I talked.

She called the buyer. I talked again.

The buyer sent for the floor manager. I talked some more.

For all I know the elevator operators and shipping rooms got in on it.

Then I was asked to have this chair please, and the buyer departed.

-:-

FINALLY SHE came back with a harried look and a brand new fellow, the vice president type. "It was our error," he said. "We looked up the original order. Our error, no doubt about it at all."

"Why, how nice," I said. "That you come right out and admit it, I mean."

"Therefore we'll credit your account with the cost of the monograms."

"The whole $36" Oh, no. You see—"

He turned to the salesgirl. "A credit slip for $36."

"But just a second," I said. "The stamping would have been $3, and—"

"The stamping order," he said, looking too patient, "didn't go through."

"But I'd contracted to pay $3 for it, and $12 outside for the work. I'd like to pay you that much anyway."

"What madam means," the buyer put in, "the credit would be $21, not $36."

"No 304 A," he said sternly, is $36 the dozen.

I started to speak but he waved me aside. "Just a moment," he said. "Would you take this chair, please?"

Ohio Air Force Pilot Says He's Being Ousted

Clevelander Says Brother's Political Views Are Reason

WASHINGTON (AP) An Ohio Air Force pilot, a veteran of 100 combat missions in Korea, insists the Air Force is trying to get rid of him because of his brother's political views.

1st Lt Thomas Shepard, 29, of Cleveland has so written Rep Bender (R-Ohio). Shepard said he had been told it was just part of the current reductions in the Air Force but he found this hard to believe.

Now attached to the 518th Air Defense Group at Niagara Falls N Y Shepard told Bender he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for his duty in Korea and an Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters.

What the Air Force objects to he contended is the fact he is a brother of Paul J Shepard also of Cleveland.

The records of the Senate internal security subcommittee show Paul Shepard was questioned in Cleveland May 29, 1952 by a house committee looking into "subversive influences in the United Electrical and Radio Machine Workers of America."

Paul Shepard identified as an organizer for Local 735 of that union declined under oath to say whether he ever joined the Communist party.

Bender turned the letter over to the Air Force. Joe W Kelly director of legislative liaison for the Air Force replied that Lt Shepard's loyalty was not being questioned.

Ike Curbs Velde's Rush To Have Truman Testify

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republicans started after former President Truman in high gear. Then President Eisenhower threw on the brakes and they skidded.

Given a sharp nudge by Eisenhower, Atty. Gen. Brownell—who has far more experience in politics than the President—came up with a statement saying what he had left unsaid

That he didn't mean to suggest Truman was disloyal when he said the ex-President promoted Harry Dexter White after the FBI sent the White House notice that White was a spy for Russia.

And Eisenhower pulled the brakes on Rep. Harold Velde (R-Ill), chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, who had piled up headlines with his subpoena of Truman, Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark and South Carolina Gov. James F Byrnes.

After Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he would not have tried to subpoena Truman, Velde and his fellow Republicans on the committee went into a huddle to check signals

In charging last Friday that Truman promoted White in spite of FBI warnings, Brownell seemed clearly to be saying Truman was lax But was he suggesting Truman was deliberately lax?

He didn't say, and because he didn't the country wondered whether Brownell was questioning Truman's loyalty.

Yesterday at his news conference [illegible] conceivable to him that Truman could be disloyal to America A few hours later, Brownell issued the statement saying he didn't mean to question Truman's loyalty.

It wasn't the first time Brownell stepped in to modify something he had said before about the White case.

In is opening charge, He said FBI reports had been delivered to Truman. Three days later he toned this down to a statement that the reports had been delivered to the White House for Truman.

Gov. Byrnes, now a political foe of Truman but at the time of the FBI reports his secretary of state, said this week Truman told him he had seen the reports.

Velde and Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), chairman of the Senate subcommittee on internal security, have been in apparent competition over who would investigate Brownell's charges for Congress

Jenner announced days ago he would question Maj Gen. Harry H Vaugan today. Right behind him came Velde with the news he'd call Vaughan—Truman's military aide to whom Brownell said the FBI reports were delivered—two days before the Jenner committee got him. Later Velde said he would hear Vaughan at the same time as the Jenner group.

Jenner said he would not consider issuing a subpoena for Truman, whereupon Velde announced a subpoena had been issued for Truman, Clark and Byrnes. Neither Clark nor Truman has said whether they will honor the subpoenas, but Byrnes declined, saying the committee could come to him. Velde agred to this.

Democrats on the committee, giving signs of blazing anger, complained that they had not been consulted at all about the subpoenas.

Velde could have asked Truman to appear, instead of ordering him. The subpoena was someting he could have used later. At least one Republican on the committee, also not consulted, expressed dislike of Velde's procedure.

When Eisenhower did, too, there was such an uproar in Velde's committee that it appeared unlikely Truman would have to appear soon, if ever.

Would Destroy Funnel With Guided Missiles

Plans for National Tornado-Damage Prevention Net Proposed by Scientists

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) A guided missile may someday be fired into the lastsprin g. f tw roaring heart of a tornado and save a city like Waco, Tex., from such damage and death left there last spring.

Two scientists believe it completely practical and possible of achievement in the near future.

Dr. Fritz O Rossmann, a German physicist and meteorologist brought to this country by the Air Force six months ago, has propounded a new theory that contradicts a 50-year-old idea about tornado behavior.

Col Rollins H Mayer electronic scientist at the Air Force missile test center, Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., where Rossmann is working, says the theory makes possible a national tornado-damage prevention net capable of saving millions of dollars and thousands of lives.

Rossmann and Mayer were here to present papers and propose the net at the 125th annual meeting of the American Meteorological Society.

Rossmann claims there is a terrifically powerful downdraft in the funnel of a tornado—not an updraft as has long been believed.

His plan is to pinch off this funnel from the cloud that is feeding it its destructive, whirling, downdraft power. He thinks a guided missile exploded into the air mass overhanging the funnel will do the job

The old impression of an updraft in a tornado's funnel is created, he told The Associated Press, by the downdraft jet striking the ground or water then bouncing back upward outside the funnel.

Mayer predicted tornado destruction might be achieved in 5 to 10 years if sufficient support can be mustered for necessary study and research.

The kind of net he proposes would consist of mobile antitornado stations, assembled at airports near large cities where tornadoes might be expected.

Into the net would be fed tornado forecasts, radar detection, warning and tracking data. Jet planes with tornado destruction missiles could be standing by.

"If only a 1 per cent tornado damage prevention could be realized, a great advancement in science will have been made and the welfare of mankind promoted," Col. Mayer said

Planet Mercury To Cross Sun's Face Saturday

Special to The Star

DELAWARE — The student observatory in Delaware will open its doors to the public Saturday so that as many persons as possible will be able to see an event which occurs only about 13 times in a century—the transit of the planet Mercury across the face of the sun

The observatory owned by Ohio Wesleyan University will open at 10 a m Dr John E Merrill professor of astronomy will be on hand to answer questions The observatory is located on W Williams St next to Stuyvesant Hall

Mercury will enter the disc of the sun a few seconds before 10 38 a m and will cross the sun appearing as a tiny black dot until 1 12 p m when it will have completed its journey

Because Mercury is only one and a-half time the size of our moon and is approximately 60 million miles away from the earth it will not be visible though the naked eye Even through the 9½-inch refracting telescope at the student observatory it will appear as a tiny dot

The Columbus Astronomical Society will also handle the public at Ohio State University's McMillen Observatory which has a 12½ inch refracting telescope

The Perkins Observatory at Stratford will not be used because it has a reflecting telescope

This is the first transit of Mercury since 1940 The next one is expected to occur May 6 1957.

Football Campaigns Will Close Friday

Presidents, Irish on Road In Final Grid Engagements

The local football season will come to a close on foreign fields tomorrow night when Harding and St Mary leave town to play their final contests

The Prexies meet Sandusky while the Irish go against Elm Valley

Harding turned in one of its best performances of the year last Friday in dropping a 32 14 decision to fifth-rated Fremont The Prexies were pretty badly banged up in the contest but fortunately their opposition tomorrow will be a hapless Sandusky team that has a 2-1-5 season record.

Four Harding regulars are on the doubtful list for tomorrow night Tackle Bob Hamor a candidate for all-Ohio is slowed by a back injury received last weekend Fred Price who alternates between quarterback and defensive half also has back troubles stemming from the Fremont tilt

Whitey Clinger a senior guard is nursing a severe charley horse and End Jim Whitley is suffering from a gash in his foot received during a practice session

Harding goes into its final game with a record of five wins against two losses and one tie Both losses came at the hands of teams rated high in the Associated Press grid poll

Only two teams have met both Harding and Sandusky Fremont Ross defeated both downing the Prexies 32 14 and the Blue Streak 19-7 Findlay battled to a scoreless tie with Sandusky and bowed to Harding 27 0

In other games Sandusky defeated Elyria 14 0 and East Liverpool 14-6 while getting trampled by Columbus Rhodes 41 0 Toledo DeVilbiss 12 0 Lorain and Mansfield 28 0

Harding registered victories over Columbus West 7 0 Bowling Green 20-0 Tiffin Columbian 21 6 and Fostoria 40-6 The Prexies were defeated by Columbus Central 20 13 and tied by Ashland 7 7

Sandusky won last week's contest defeating Harding 42 19

St Mary will be out to clinch the first Mid Ohio title A victory tomorrow night will give the Irish a 4 0 record in league play and a 7-1 slate for the season

Both the Irish and Elm Valley squad be in top condition for the event St Mary will be fresh from its best outing of the year last week end when the Irish upset a highly rated Mansfield Madison 14 6

If the Elm Valley crew downs St Mary the championship race would end in a tie between the Irish and Richwood

Elm Valley goes into tomorrow's contest with a 3 4 season record and a 1 2 showing in league play

St Mary and Elm Valley have met three common opponents in conference members Elm Valley beat Mt Gilead 12 6 and lost to Cardington 26 0 and Richwood 12-0 St Mary downed them all — Cardington 27 0 Mt Gilead 36 0 and Richwood 33 6

During the 1952 season Elm Valley defeated Johnstown 21 13 and Big Walnut 20-0 and lost to Fredericktown 18-13 and Utica 7 0

In non-conference games St Mary roleld over Lima St Rose 7 0 Columbus St Mary 20-0 and Mansfield Madison 14 6 The only Irish defeat was handed them by Carey 13-7

St Mary had little trouble posting a 37 7 victory over Elm Valley last year

Marion Fired; Orioles Select Dykes as Pilot

BALTIMORE (AP)—General Jimmy Dykes who lost his job as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics a week ago was back in business today at a new stand working for his old boss

He became the third manager on the rising payroll of the Baltimore Orioles after Marty Marion was fired late yesterday with a year still to go on the $50 000-a-year contract he had with the St Louis Browns Marion joined former Browns Manager Rogers Hornsby on the inactive pay list

Altogether, the Orioles will pay nearly $100 000 for the incompetents and get work out of only one of them Both of the surplus contracts expire after next season as well as that of Dykes which was bought from Philadelphia Horsby is believed to draw around $40 000 and Dykes $30 000

Dykes 57, was picked by General Manager Art Ehlers to recent boss at Philadelphia to guide Baltimore in its return to major league baseball after nearly half a century

Ehlers said he was firing Marion because of his defensive thinking He called Dykes forceful and energetic and said he knew first hand he could work well with the club

Marion said at St Louis "I don't feel too bad about it home I don't To go to Baltimore with two strikes against you like I did would have been a pretty tough operation But I wish him a lot of luck"

He said someone in the old Browns organization had given him a bad name with the Orioles management

As for Dykes he said he was "tickled to death" to be back at work as a manager again and is especially pleased to be back with Art Ehers

"Art knows I'm not a yes man and I've never hesitated to tell him when I think a deal is good or bad" he said

He predicted Baltimore would be a "hotter major league town than Philadelphia and envisioned his new team playing in front of crowds of 26 000 rather than the 1 000 or 1 600 fans they customarily played for in St Louis

Dykes was to come here today for a get acquainted luncheon with the press and to talk over his new job with Ehlers

The Athletics dropped him last week as manager after he had piloted the club through three seasons—boosting them from eighth to sixth place in 1951 climbing to fourth in 1952 and slumping to seventh place this season with a team hampered by injuries

Marion said his plans for the future were uncertain

Rams Meet Carey In Wyandot Game

UPPER SANDUSKY—The Upper Sandusky Rams and the Carey Blue Devils will close their football season Friday night at Carey continuing a grid rivalry dating from 1914 The Rams have won six and lost two while Carey has won three and dropped five this season

The Rams opened with a 73 0 win over Mifflin and took Willard 39-12 before losing to Bellevue 14 20 and Shelby 21 26 Back in the win column they posted 47 14 over Bucyrus 33 0 over Crestline and 39 0 over Norwalk Final NOL game of the season for the Rams was a 53-7 victory at Galion last week

Carey dropped three 12 13 to Oak Harbor 6 27 Mansfield Madison and 7 18 North Baltimore before winning over Ada 34 1 The next two weeks they lost to Richwood 7-13 and to Bedford Michigan 6-78 An upset 13 7 win over Marion St Mary followed and last week they hit a fast pace to roll over Bluffton 48-0

Bratton Under Pressure for Gavilan Scrap

CHICAGO (AP)—The pressure will be on Johnny Bratton to win as never before in his welterweight title scrap with champion Kid Gavilan at Chicago Stadium tomorrow night

He risks just about everything in his long awaited shot at the 147 pound crown He owned the National Boxing Association version of it two years ago until the Cuban kid defeated him at New York to become undisputed champion

This will be Gavilan's seventh defense since then

Gavilan who is not expected to have trouble making weight has little to lose no matter what happens If he wins he can vacate the title and take a crack at the middleweight crown held by Bobo Olson if he can carry over as a welterweight meeting all comers

If he loses he can have a rematch with Bratton or forget it and go after Olson in a weight class more to his liking Whatever it is said Gavilan will aim next for the middleweight championship

The odds are around 7 to 5 for Gavilan Fans will be down to the wire buying tickets at 10 p m EST The fight will be televised nationally

Jackie Gordon of the Cleveland Barons was the 1st player in the history of the American Hockey League to score 100 goals

Carter Eyes Welterweight Ranks After Title Defense

Savoie Dropped in Fifth

BY MURRAY ROSE

MONTREAL (AP) — Lightweight champion Jimmy Carter winner of three straight title fights by knockout today set his sights on the welterweight throne held by Kid Gavilan Johnny Bratton welterweight meeting all comers

After breaking out rings Armand Savoie of Montreal last night in 59 seconds of the fifth round with the best single punch right I ever threw Carter immediately put in a pitch for a shot at the welterweight crown

There was not a dull left in the lightweight mitt Jimmy said Manager Willie Ketchum the loquacious member of the New York combination so he might as well fight for the welterweight title

If NBA said there won't any lightweight contenders in their list Willie would make it more with Carter next and more is what we're after

Asked his weight was Carter A welterweight that's what I am with no

Carter had a 3 to 1 favorite was trailing on the score cards of the three voting judges until he loosened with his blockbuster A series of thumping body blows set the aggressive French Canadian up for the knockout wallop

When the right whistled over to Armand's chin he dropped flat on his back He desperately scrambled to his hands and knees as Referee Tom Sullivan counted 9 and 10

For three rounds Savoie who beat Carter by split decision in a non-title 10-rounder here Feb 16, gave the partisan crowd of 9 156 unexpected thrills as he carried the fight to the champion a notorious slow starter

He appeared to have swept the first three rounds with long range left and lots of left hooks to the head But in the fourth champion went to work He carried Savoie's body with [illegible] and hurt the challenger with left hooks to the head and body

At 135 pounds Carter weighed the lightest since he won the title for the first time by halting Ike Williams in 14 rounds in 1951 Savoie weighed 134

Rink Makes Hit With Marionites

Long Fight for Local Hockey Team Proves Successful

By MIKE HUBER

With the Marion Barons drawing average crowds of some 2,000 and each ice-skating session attracting more than 200 it seems that the Coliseum's new artificial ice rink is making a hit with local sports fans.

The history of the municipal rink goes back to 1947 when the Coliseum was still on the architect's drawing board.

ACCORDING TO Ernie Foster chairman of the building board of directors the original group of men who pushed the Coliseum idea all along of offering a home for skating and hockey. Ernie in front of an artist's sketch of the building, told of all their dreams and visions for the Coliseum. He said:

"We now have practically everything we ever hoped for. I talked about it and fought for it while heading the committee and council on it.

"Marion can now be put on the map of the Ohio cities with a first-class sports facility. Only Cleveland and Columbus have anything like our setup."

The Coliseum was opened for basketball in 1949 and later that year workmen began the building that was to be the home of the Ice Aces. But Marion's hockey team had its own troubles.

Sam Pratt, Aces' coach, had to cancel the first game of the season when the ice wasn't ready. Only two games were played in December and then the ice melted.

Pratt's team had to wait until January 1950 before it could play its first game on home ice.

WHEN ICE CYCLES returns next April it will be able to use the Coliseum ice.

WHILE ICE VOGUES was on furloughs, the directors of the Coliseum talked to promoter George Tyson about the possibilities of installing ice equipment in the arena and having hockey locally. Tyson in turn contacted officials of the Chicago Black Hawks a member of the National Hockey League.

The summer representative of the Black Hawks organization visited Marion. They liked the Coliseum there and its central location for sports but nothing developed. At the time Coliseum directors didn't have the wave and means of obtaining ice making machinery and the Chicago club was not in a position to provide such equipment.

In Dal Jacks' office there was a set of the Grand Rapids Meet surveyed the situation and decided the Marion would be all right for an independent hockey club. But it didn't develop.

THE FIRST DEFINITE effort was made in May 1952 when Ice Cycles came to the Coliseum. The directors talked to Jim Hendy a promoter of the new and exciting game of the Cleveland Arena and the Cleveland Barons. Hendy's attorney, Emil Arnold, and the Cleveland Barons' secretary, Al Sutherland, were present.

Hendy's group wanted to put a team in the Coliseum with its own ice making outfit. Just for the use of this organization, Hendy wanted a flat rental fee.

Foster pointed out that the basketball games, dog shows, home shows, automobile shows and other events will still be able to go on despite the ice.

IT IS EXPECTED that by the end of January the Coliseum will have a plywood floor to cover the entire ice arena. In the meantime a special floor will be constructed over the ice to take care of basketball.

A seven man board of directors is in charge of both the Coliseum and the Marion Barons. Every member of the board has been active in Coliseum affairs from the start.

Foster is president of the group composed of Harley Mixer, Clyde Hinamon, Ray Ridenbaugh, Robert White, Hoyt Hall and Clifford Smith.

machinery was begun and on Oct. 11 Marion had its first hockey game.

While providing the city with hockey and skating the ice won't interfere with any of the other activities which have become fixtures on the Coliseum's schedule.

Foster pointed out that the basketball games, dog shows, home shows, automobile shows and other events will still be able to go on despite the ice.

IT IS EXPECTED that by the end of January the Coliseum will

Race in 6-Man League Recalls Finish in 1952

This year's drive for a fourth Double M football league championship recalls the drive for the 1952 title.

LaRue and Claridon again shared in the talent as they did a year ago. Claridon dumped LaRue's undefeated record 87 to 8 and LaRue defeated Ridgedale 19-13 to win the 1953 crown.

Followed the same pattern the 1952 race with LaRue and Claridon and Chesterville tied the pace with 5-1 marks after Claridon downed Ridgedale 50-42 in the first game of season. Claridon won its second game with only a 20-20 loss to Chesterville making its record LaRue downed the same squad 42-13 and in the second game Ridgedale 31-20 and Chesterville were topped by Claridon 31-20 and LaRue 31-0.

LaRue and Claridon battled again in 1947 when the cup was in its second season. Claridon won the title the next two seasons before LaRue edged the Hilltoppers 36-32 for the 1950 crown and then repeated a year later in 1951.

BUY ASHLAND STATION

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Robert F. Burke of Defiance and Carl Fox of Bryan are the new owners of radio station WAIC, Ashland. Their Ashland Broadcasting Co. bought control from Mahoning Valley Broadcasting Co., Youngstown, for $60,000. Gene Mill, former commercial manager of WNOW, Defiance, will be general manager.

Buckeyes Lose Defensive Ace; Joslin Injured

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The season may be nearly over for Ohio State but football Coach Woody Hayes keeps right on finding new problems.

All season the Buck boss has been trying to erect some adequate line to one of the weakest defenses in the Big Ten. Then as the defense was beginning to shape up this week he lost one of his key linemen.

Co-Capt. Bob Joslin, the 195-pound end from Middletown, was spilled on a tackling blocking practice Tuesday and had to retire to the dressing room with a sprained knee. Saturday's game here with Purdue.

Joslin had started his first string berth to Dick Bielke but was counted on for plenty of service.

Hayes remarked he had two weeks as hard and fast as he has times this week. "If we don't have a serviceable end by then we're in trouble," he said.

Tommy Hagewood will be the end and switch the offensive duties to Dave Bielke. Dave will take over the fullback spot as moved up front of the game.

Browns, 49ers Ready To Clash

CLEVELAND (AP)—San Francisco 49ers flew into Cleveland today for a showdown of Sunday's Browns-49ers battle in the game that will test the relative strength of pro football's two divisions.

The Browns who have lost only two games and tied with Los Angeles Rams for first place in the Western Conference while the unbeaten Bears lead the Eastern loop, are favored on the Western path that is much the tougher of the two divisions.

But Dante Lavelli, Otto Graham and the rest of the Browns, having a few aches and pains and the 49ers fighting to keep their edge, let Los Angeles in a tight spot as Sunday.

Any happened on quite a few injuries and prospect pounding. The Browns have Otto Graham who may or may not be with all set to go and Lavelli who has a sore leg. The 49ers have Y. A. Tittle who has a 17-touchdown for 17 passes.

WIN AAU RUN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Pat Dwyer and Jeff Simpkins made it a Miami U. sweep in the Ohio AAU cross country run here Saturday. Dwyer won the 4½-mile race in 23:40.2 and Simpkins was second in 23:41.

Miami's Bob Wood was fourth and Dick Hoffman sixth. Miami's team score was 24 points. Ohio State was second with 49 points.

Dwyer's time was 1:10 faster than the record he set last year.

NCAA Ponders Cutting Length Of Drill Period

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The NCAA will be asked to consider new proposals dealing with the shorter practice and playing seasons for football and basketball at its annual meeting next January.

The 18-man policy making council of the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association completed plans for the coming convention at Cincinnati in a two-day session which ended Tuesday.

The convention also will be asked to consider such matters as disciplining member institutions on probation and postseason all-star high school basketball and football games.

An amendment to NCAA regulations that basketball preseason practice not begin before Nov. 1, the game schedule not before Dec. 1 and the season limited to a maximum of 26 games, will be offered by the council.

The 26-game limit would be exclusive of the NCAA championship tournament but preseason and in-season tournament games would be counted. The council noted that some schools played as many as 31 games including the various tournaments.

Ten games instead of 11 as some schools are now playing would be the maximum in football. The postseason games approved by the NCAA would be excluded in the total number allowed.

If the convention writes into the bylaws the council's recommendation football preseason practice won't start before Sept. 1. Spring practice already abolished by some conferences primarily in the East won't be affected.

The council also recommended that institutions subject to disciplinary action should not be permitted to serve as host for any NCAA event during their period of probation. However this would not affect any of the association's events previously scheduled.

The bessemer converter first proposed in 1856 revolutionized the making of steel.

Bobby Watkins Tied for Grid Scoring Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Chances are that the 1953 major-college individual scoring champion is going to be a rarity on two counts — he's likely to score less than 100 points and he may be a Big Ten player.

NCAA Service Bureau statistics showed today that Bobby Watkins of Ohio State, Mickey Bates of Illinois and Joe Ulm of San Jose State, each with 11 touchdowns for 66 points, are the nation's top point makers. Since Ulm has been ineligible for four weeks now, the real leaders are Watkins and Bates, although seven other players are within easy reach of the top.

Only once in the last 15 years has the major-college scoring champ failed to score 100 or more points. That was in 1947 when Maryland's Lou Gambino had 96. And not since Tommy Harmon of Michigan took top honors in 1939 and 1940 has a Big Ten representative held that distinction.

Watkins and Bates, with two games apiece to go, however, are far from safe. Four players have 10 touchdowns for 60 points—VMI's Johnny Mapp, Denver's Fred Mahaffey, Oklahoma's Larry Grigg and California's Al Tilley. Wyoming's Joe Mastrogiovanni, the season-long total offense leader, is right up there with 59 points while Jack Parker of Mississippi State, the defending champion, has 58.

Georgia's Jack Garson is clinging to first place in pass receiving with a good chance to stay there. Carson has caught 37 passes for 532 yards, leading the country in both respects, and has three games to go. College of Pacific's Ken Buck, who caught 22 in his first three games, has grabbed only 13 in his last four for a total of 35 and 476 yards, for runner-up position in both departments.

Bob Garrett of Stanford, Paul Giel of Minnesota and Johnny Lattner of Notre Dame lead, respectively, in interceptions, punt runbacks and kick-off runback efficiency.

Powerman, Passer Get Test in Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's leading ground gainer will meet the Big Ten's top-ranked passer when Illinois and Wisconsin meet Saturday in a pivotal conference game.

Illinois' J. C. Caroline has piled up 1,075 rushing yards in seven games and has rolled up 738 in four conference contests. He needs only 37 more to break the season Big Ten record of 774 set in 1951 by Wisconsin's Alan Ameche.

The Badgers' sophomore quarterback, Jim Miller, has taken over first place in passing, according to Big Ten statistics released today. He has accounted for 498 yards, completing 28 tosses, four for touchdowns, for a completion average of .519.

Another Wisconsin "find," Bob Girgrass, has become the Big Ten's leading punter with a 49.4 average.

It is estimated that the Belgian Congo river represents 130 million horsepower of unused water power.

First Vandalism In North American Strike Is Reported

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police at suburban Maywood say they have received their first report of vandalism since the outbreak of the North American Aviation Inc., strike Oct. 23.

Carl Stegman reported yesterday two tires were slashed on his car, parked on company property. Stegman said he walked out when the strike was called, but returned to his job Tuesday.

Meanwhile, a federal conciliator announced resumption of joint conferences today between company officials and representatives of the CIO Auto Workers. Workers are on strike at the Los Angeles, Fresno, Calif., and Columbus, Ohio, North American plants.

The union is asking 26 cents an hour more pay and the company has offered four per cent more. Wages at the time of the strike ranged from $1.42 to $2.32 an hour.

Ohio's Rabbit Crop Reported as 'Good'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's winter hunting season opens Monday and the state wildlife division has both good and bad news for the hunter.

The bird and rabbit season opens at 9 a.m.; the raccoon gun season at 6 p. m.

A division spokesman said rabbits will be more numerous in Ohio this year than last, especially in the Ohio River counties, but pheasants will be as scarce as they were in 1952. The division expects a fairly good season on ruffed grouse, which are found mostly in the southern and southeastern hill country of the state.

Opening date of the season for furbearing animals is Dec. 5.

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Louise Rodeback, 27, began a life sentence for the murder of one of her sons yesterday.

The woman, mother of seven, was convicted of the beating death of her 5-year-old son, Byron, last August at their farm home near Millersport, Fairfield County.

Sheriff and Mrs. Dudley Crider brought Mrs. Rodeback to the state reformatory for women near here yesterday. He said Mrs. Rodeback soon will become a mother for the eighth time.

Airline Marks Anniversary of Flight Service

Lake Central Airlines today is observing its fourth anniversary of continuous scheduled flight operations.

The local-service airline, formerly known as Turner Airlines, made its first scheduled flight on Nov. 12, 1949, from Indianapolis to Grand Rapids. At that time, the company employed approximately 25 employes and covered about 200 route miles.

In 1950, service was inaugurated between such metropolitan areas as Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Chicag and Louisville, with intermediate stops at satellite cities. These routes connected by air such cities as Lafayette, Connersville, Bloomington, and Richmond, Indiana, with the larger centers of commerce.

The Civil Aeronautics Board certificated Lake Central to extend its routes east to Pittsburgh, Youngstown, and Cleveland on Feb. 28, 1953. This extension of service, with its intermediate stops, including Marion, brought the total number of stations served to 21.

Lake Central Airlines has never had an accident fatal to crew or passengers. It has received consistently the annual National Safety Council's Aviation Award, and by today, will have completed more than 20 million accident-free passenger miles.

Today the company employs a staff of more than 300 spread over five states. The route mileage has been extended to 1,500 miles, and an additional 600 miles has been applied for.

In announcing the anniversary, Dr. R. B. Stewart, company president, "Lake Central's tremendous growth in such a short period of time has been attributed to their ability to change with the times and an awareness of the demands placed upon the aviation industry. The formula for its success has been an unselfish devotion to public service and a never-ceasing attention to safety."

Because the bassoon lends itself to comic effects it has been called the humorist of the orchestra.

New Oil Center Built in Dallas

Allied Fields Placed In $3,000,000 Project

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—The oil industry has taken a cue from the medical profession and is building a $3,000,000 oil center in Dallas.

The General American Oil Company Employes Retirement Trust is building the nine-story building near the Central Expressway, not far from downtown Dallas.

The idea was that if doctors found they could serve their patients better by concentrating all the allied fields in one medical center, the petroleum industry could benefit by similar centralization.

Shortly after the East Texas oil field opened in 1930, Dallas' First National, Republic National and Mercantile National Banks established oil divisions to deal specifically with petroleum financing.

Other Dallas banks have followed in pioneering loans to all segments of the oil industry. At one time, the three largest banks in Dallas were said to have some $155,000,000 invested in loans to the oil industry.

The city also is an oil publication center with these technical journals printed here: Journal of Petroleum Technology, Drilling Magazine, Petroleum Engineer, and Drilling Contractor.

Daily and weekly oil reports are furnished by Petroleum News Corporation in its Five Star Oil Report, and Ira Rinehart's Oil Report by the Rinehart Oil News Co.

Both the Dallas Morning News and the Dallas Daily Times Herald have full-time oil editors, and the Wall Street Journal carries oil stories written in Dallas by writers on its staff of the southwest edition of the financial newspaper.

Oil firms have been moving to Dallas in great numbers and while no oil is produced in the immediate vicinity of the North Texas city, its goal is to match Tulsa, Okla., and Houston, Tex., as a real oil capital.

City Quits Plan For Car Inspection

CHICAGO (UP) — Chicago has abandoned its automobile safety inspection prgoram.

The city council abolished the "safety lane" tests as an economy move calculated to save an estimated $600,000 to $750,000 a year. the vote was 31 to 8.

Alderman Thomas E. Keane argued that only 4.6 per cent of the city's traffic accidents have been traced to mechanical failures. Most cars involved in accidents, he said, passed the city safety inspections, which were required once a year.

Alderman John Hoellen pointed out that suburban residents were not required to submit their cars to the tests, even if they drove daily in Chicago.

Many Chicagoans had complained that personnel employed to conduct the tests accepted small bribes to pass unsafe cars.

Fewer than 100 aborigines remain in the Andaman Islands today.

Gentle, Harmless

Koala Bear Favorite Pet in Australia

One of a number of articles by Nina Pulliam on the customs of the people of Australia, New Zealand and the Fiji Islands Mrs Pulliam, wife of Eugene C. Pulliam publisher of the Indianapolis Star and other newspapers is gathing material for a book on the world 'Down Under

By NINA PULLIAM

MELBOURNE (NANA)—Down the years, uncounted thousands of American children have hugged to their hearts for comfort in loneliness or sorrow or childhood ills, a cuddly, dearly loved toy called Teddy Bear more often than not stained with their tears and kisses and battered by much handling The original and the inspiration of that treasured toy is the Koala—pronounced Ko-ah-la—a completely captivating piece of innocent lovableness belonging solely to Australia and not even remotely related to the 'bear famil

The Koala is probably as gentle and harmless an animal as ever lived It is only one land now which limits its love perhaps the best-loved one of the many marsupials (pouched mammals) of Australia I don't suppose a koala ever killed anything in its life unless it stepped accidentally on a bug or something. It doesn't even know how to fight other than to bite and scratch if it is tormented beyond endurance Its gait is so clumsy it can not run fast enough to escape an enemy including the terrible forest fires which often decimate and depopulate the magnificent Australian bush" The koala doesn't use up anybody's precious drinking water but get its small supply of moisture from the leaves it eats In fact its very name, koala, is an aboriginal word meaning no water It doesn't take anybody's sticks or anything else to build its nest It just lits the nest go and sits in the fork of a tree

IT EATS THE LEAVES of only about a dozen of the more than 600 types of eucalypts or gums which grow in Australia, actually preferring only four or five It is not precosity but wisdom which makes it such a nice selective eater for it knows by instinct presumably, that the leaves of some trees are bad for it, including one which produces prussic acid when chewed It wants about two and a half pounds of leaves a day when it is full grown which is by the time it is four years old And it has a so-called appendix from six to eight feet long to help it accommodate so much roughage' An "extra big koala might weigh 30 pounds, but the average is nearer to 20

At birth the baby koala is only about three-quarters of an inch long and weighs a little over five grains Even then, however, its ridiculous nose is clearly defined' This tiny embryonic creature finds its way, unassisted, into the mother's pouch where it remains for about six months feeding and growing It may then emerge probably seven inches long fully covered with fur, and unmistakably a koala By the time it is eight months old it will leave the pouch for good the mother giving it a few assists on its plump little bottom to hoist it up to sit on her back where it rides in serene clinging safety while climbing up or down (which latter she does stern first) hunting food

THE LITTLE MOTHER koala loves her baby dearly and usually holds it in her arms when it is sleeping or if it is cold or seems lonely cuddling and patting it from time to time Sometimes when she hasn't a current baby of her own, she will kidnap one from a neighbor and run to another tree hoping to avoid detection This practice became so common at one of the sanctuaries they had to go and buy some toy Teddy Bears to pacify the little lonely mothers' Their life urge is not very strong and they do not breed oftener than once each two years This adds to the problem the koalas' friends have in trying to save them from extinction

The mother teaches her baby how to select tender leaves how to curl into a ball to break a bad fall how to climb, which it does with arms and legs spread wide claws sunk deeply into the tree and a little sort of hopping-up motion If her baby is flagrantly disobedient she will soundly spank his little furry bottom to teach him better' If really hurt, the koala—whether baby or grandparent—will cry in a most woebegone voice, like a real baby in actual pain

IF IT LIKES YOU, the koala will lie in your arms, baby fashion, or it will put its short arms as nearly as possible around you and lay its soft little head on your shoulder, looking at you full of trust in your supposed goodness It will play too Once when I teased one I'd been feeding, by extending my hand empty, he gave me one slant-wise glance smacked my hand archly but soundly, and turning his back hid his face from me against the tree We played hide-and-seek that way for several minutes

There are many beautiful and fully documented stories about the little koalas but one of my favorites is that they lived for many years in peace with the Blackfellows as the aborigines of Australia are commonly called The big savages would not hurt them They were familiar with their childlike cry and they believed the koalas carried in their small furry bodies the departed spirits of the little lost, black children themselves'

Simple Costumes Best for Women, Designer Believes

NEW YORK (UP) — The worst fashion sin a woman can commit is wrapped up in one term, 'trying too hard,' says designer Lilly Dache

Miss Dache a fashion leader for 20 years, has compiled what she considers the seven deadliest sins in dress The one at the bottom of her list probably would rate at the top of any compiled by husbands It's squandering money

'The worst sin of all is trying too hard' Miss Dache said Going to extremes, in hats, dresses shoes'

The second sin is wearing too much.

'Too much makeup too much trim" she said By the time a woman gets a hat with a lot of stuff on it gloves all decorated shoes fancied up and dress with spangles or buttons, she's buried under her outfit"

The other sins she said are neglect of hair and face on the part of the woman seen first too much costume jewelry in a French woman stands in front of a full length mirror when she's fully dressed and then starts shedding some of the unnecessary hair too set following fads (ever Dior expects women to be selective), and squandering money.

Don't buy on a whim or by emotion' she said 'This is true whether you have $10 or $10 000 to spend Better you should give the money to charity, where it's deductible'

How does the voluble French-born designer know about fashion sins"

'Because I've committed every one of them' she said

Use Pears in Delicious Winter Salads

All the Family Will Like Fruits Blended With A Sweet Dressing

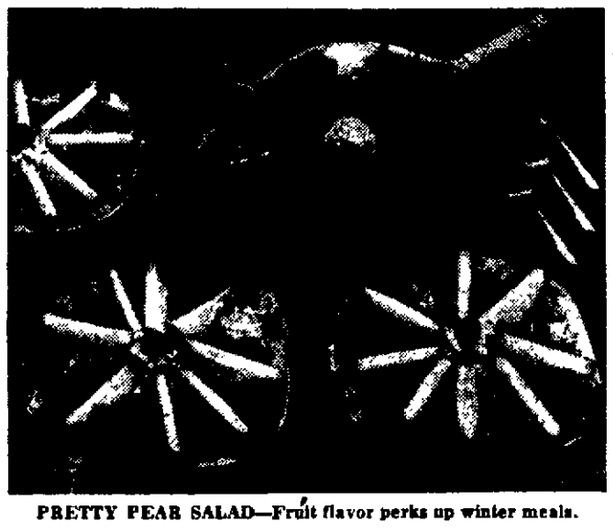
By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Say thanks for pears when you are preparing winter salads. Russet-skinned Boscs and the yellow-green Anjou or Comice all offer sweet juice, creamy texture and delicate flavor to pair with greens and dressing. If your family likes fruit salads with a sweet dressing, you may want to try this new recipe

Poinsettia Pear Salad

Ingredients: 3 ripe pears (Bosc or Anjou or Comice), lemon or orange juice, 1 cup cream-style cottage cheese, ¼ cup sliced dates, 2 tablespoons chopped nutmeats, lettuce, maraschino cherries, parsley, Seven Minute Salad Dressing.

Method: Wash and dry pears; slice into eighths. Dip into lemon or orange juice to prevent darkening. Mix cottage cheese, dates and nuts. Line three salad plates with lettuce. Mound 1-3 cup of the cottage cheese mixture in the center of each plate. Circle mound with pear slices, cut side up and pointing out. Garnish with maraschino cherries and sprigs of parsley. Serve with Seven Minute Salad Dressing.



PRETTY PEAR SALAD—Fruit flavor perks up winter meals.

SEVEN MINUTE SALAD DRESSING

Ingredients: ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon light corn syrup, 1 egg white, 1 tablespoon water, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, ½ cup mayonnaise-type salad dressing, ¼ teaspoon vanilla.

Method: Mix sugar, corn syrup, egg white and water together in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water and beat with rotary beater for 5 to 7 minutes or until mixture stands in peaks. Remove from heat; stir in orange rind. Cool; blend in salad dressing and vanilla. Serve with Poinsettia Pear Salad. Makes 2 cups dressing. Store in covered container in refrigerator, to be used as needed.

Erie Docks Expect Top Ore Tonnage

A record amount of iron ore is expected to be unloaded at the Erie Railroad ore docks at the Cleveland lakefront before the end of the 1953 shipping season.

The amount of ore which is expected to be taken from the Great Lakes ships and sent to storage or various steel mills throughout the Ohio Valley area is 2,515,000 tons. The previous record was in 1951 when 2,296,913 tons of ore were handled at the docks.

Most of the ore this year was sent to the mills but still over one million tons are expected to be placed in storage to keep factories in production during the winter when the lakes are frozen.

Harry W. Von Willer, traffic vice president of the Erie, who made the announcement, said the storage mark fell below the peak of 1,105,000 tons in storage in 1951. He explained that high production rates of the steel mills caused more ore to be used and less stored for winter use.

Ore taken at the Cleveland docks is sent to Warren, Niles, Youngstown, Sharon, Pa., and Pittsburgh, Pa. That which is not used is stored at nearby North Randall.

NO FATALITIES

Sales of Air Conditioning Units Expected To Rise

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The air conditioning industry says it expects its sales to go up even if business in other lines slackens off.

The reasoning was competition gets tougher, more building owners will install air conditioning to hold tenants, more stores will install it or lose customers, more factories will install it to increase productivity.

Home air conditioning has been the glamor girl of the industry in the last two years, but commercial and industrial conditioning may be the next big field.

Sales have risen 50 per cent since 1947, according to George S. Jones Jr., managing director of the Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute, which this week is holding an exposition in Cleveland.

The industry has as its goal the air conditioning of a third of the nation's offices and stores by 1958, a third of its factories by 1965.

The increased competition in business and industry which many see ahead will speed the march of commercial and industrial air conditioning, according to Cloud Wampler, president of Carrier Corp., which makes all types of air conditioning used in factories, offices, stores and by industry in its production processes.

He argues that stores will have to be air conditioned to hold customers. He contends that as soon as 15 per cent of desirable office space in a community is air conditioned, other owners will be forced to install it or face falling rent levels and loss of tenants.

Increasing competition among factories, Wampler says, will call for increased productivity which he says comes with air conditioning because: It cuts absenteeism, lack of concentration, excessive rest periods; it attracts new workers, cuts rates of labor turnover, prevents waste and reduces accidents due to fatigue

Wampler also points out that new products increasingly call for precision controls of temperature and humidity. Production machinery can be made more automatic and frequent adjustments unnecessary.

The American Institute of Management, in a survey of the market, estimates that sales of central air conditioning systems for factories and large business buildings should reach two billion dollars by 1949 Sales of self-contained package units for stores, restaurants and the like may reach 500 million dollars a year by that time.

Civil Defense Impossible, Sociologist Says

Prevention Said Best Defense Against Atom Attack

The writer, former managing editor of the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, has been active in atomic education since 1945.

By MICHAEL AMRINE

WASHINGTON (NANA) — The basic theory of preparing a civil defense has been that it would not only save millions of lives but enable America to keep up war production after an atomic attack.

This is a vain hope, according to Dr. Hornell Hart, famous social scientist of Duke University, North Carolina. He is known as a student of international control of atomic energy.

His view is that a Soviet atomic attack, in his own words, "would knock out American civilization." He assumes we could do much the same to Russia, and therefore his recommendations for national policy are: first, a short-run program of attempting to be so strong that Russia will fear to attack us; and, two, a long-range program of what he calls "The art of winning consent by creative discussion."

He is an expert in the latter, and is famous for experiments in which he divides a group of people into two radically opposed camps, and a third camp which may be somewhat neutral. After each side has expressed its views, he will ask the side in favor of an idea to draw up an argument for the other side. Those in the negative are asked to state the case for the positive. Frequently, after that, the two sides still feel that their case is not well represented by the people who disagree merely for the sake of the argument. The items left out are added in. Then Dr. Hart takes a fresh start, and asks the two sides what facts there may be that they will agree on, what ideas they have in common, and how they might proceed to a course of action. Usually this method gets agreement.

THIS PROCEDURE works with what he calls "Men of good will," but he says he still doesn't know how to deal with the man who simply won't consider " 'the other side,' the man who thinks he has a monopoly on the truth, and who will walk out—as the Russians have—when the going gets too rough."

However, he points out that there are 12 European and North American countries which have not gone to war with each other in the past 135 years. They are France, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Wales, Scotland, England proper, and Ireland. "They have developed a means of settling arguments by consent, through discussion, which is one definition of democracy," he says, and he has hopes the whole world in time will evolve through the U. N. to a world-wide acceptance of operating without force.

Unless East and West can come to "agreement by consent and not by force," he does not think any defense method can save civilization, for the basic reason that "technological advance" outruns "social organization." His reasoning is that defense against atomic attack is more of a social system, through an organization, than it is a technological system, through radar, antiaircraft, etc.

His charts show how improvement in the art of government has gained very slowly, while destructive ability has increased at "an accelerating rate." In 1300, he points out, the distance involved in artillery fire was hundreds of times smaller than that of an H-bomb. But the size of countries—the area or distance a government could reach—was almost the same as it is today.

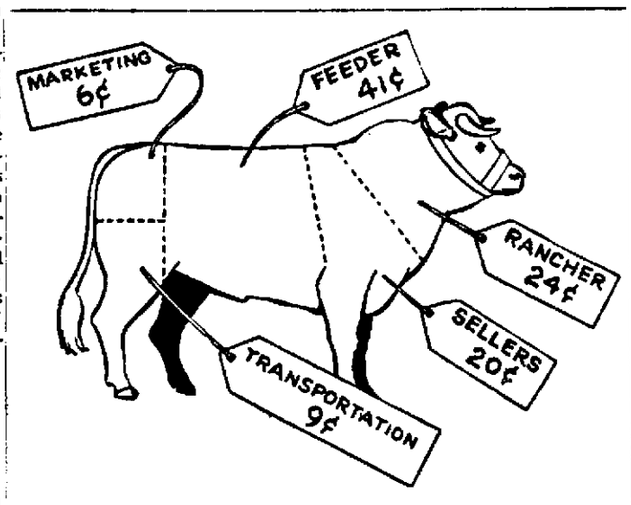
HE THINKS if man's destructive power had remained stationary, civil defense might have been possible. But now remedies for Soviet attack "are progressing at such slow speeds that there is no prospect of their overtaking the accelerating growth in the problems with which they seek to grapple. For example, while some minor progress is being made toward dispersal of munition plants from concentrated target areas, the area which can be devastated by a given atack is expanding with many times greater speed . . .while preliminary discussions are under way to mitigate the economic panic after an enemy attack, the governmental paralysis and disorganization, the breakdown of transportation and repair systems, the capacity of the potential enemy for devastating and paralyzing our nation is expanding many times as fast as is our civil defense preparedness."

He thinks that "cultural evolution toward an international community might be speeded up if concerted social thought were directed toward that end to any thing like the degre that natural science has focused upon the problem of accelerating the capacity for destruction."



THE BEEF DOLLAR. Based on statistics gathered by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in Washington, this diagram shows how $1.00 worth of beef is divided among the various processors involved in the marketing of a steer from Western ranch to Eastern butcher shop. "Sellers" refers to the retailer and the wholesaler. The "feeder" fattens the steer while "marketing" represents such steps as slaughtering.

New Housing Plan In Florida To Help Retired Pensioners

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UP)—This small tourist town on the Gulf of Mexico has initiated a housing program that may bring Florida retirement within the reach of thousands of middle class pensioners.

The newly formed Dunedin Housing Authority announced plans for a project especially designed to permit retiring laborers with monthly pensions of $125 or more to rent permanent residences for much less than typical Florida prices.

The housing project would be financed by bonds to be liquidated by revenues from the program. Although the financing of such a project by revenue bonds is authorized by state statutes, it has never been attempted before.

The first step in the plan came with establishment of the Housing Authority.

George N. Deas, executive director of the group said that although a great segment of the population retires with pensions of $125 or more, they are financially unable to move to Florida without sizeable capital.

Deas said the project is aimed at providing "low-cost quality housing for people who are migrating to Florida with insufficient income to pay the existing rental or purchase terms."

"The Housing Authority is interested in renting to pensioners," he said, "because their pensions will not cover usual Florida rents and because that should make the sale of revenue certificates easier. The renter would have a guaranteed income."

Hospital Patients Put Beers to Test

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Patients with certain heart and kidney diseases at county general hospital are drinking beer in a project to determine whether it is harmful or helpful.

The research project is testing the old theory that beer is harmful to heart and kidney patients. The Brewery Industries Research Foundation gave a cash grant for the work and Marquette University medical school is directing it.

Physicians often have warned patients suffering from certain heart and kidney conditions to give up beer because it was thought to contain a lot of sodium that would be bad for the patients.

Beer for the research is being furnished by the brewery foundation in unlabeled containers. The researchers also are checking into the sodium content of beer.

If they find the brew is low in sodium, beer might be a good addition to the dict of persons who have to restrict their use of table salt, which contains a large amount of sodium. The reasoning is that beer would pep up the tasteless salt-free diets.

STEAK WARNING

BOSTON (UP) — The menu at Durgin Park's, one of Boston'sd famed old restaurants, bears this warning: "We are not responsible for any steak ordered well-done." Charcoal-broiled steak so cooked is apt to be tough, a chef explained.

Japan's Heavy Industry Falls

1953 Industrial Slump Marked as Dangerous

TOKYO (UP) — Exports of Japan's heavy industry slumped dangerously in the first half of 1953, even before effects of the Korean truce were felt. High production costs were blamed for the decline.

Japan's iron-steel industry is losing to stong competition from European producers. The once busy shipbuilding industry received not a single order from foreign shipowners in the first half of this year, the transportation ministry reported.

The slump in shipbuilding was blamed on Japan's inability to cut costs to meet competition from Britain and West Germany. The price of $150 a ton offered by European shipyards is less than the Japanese cost production.

In an effort to re-enter the international shipbuilding market, Japanese shipbuilders are planning to adopt a dual price system, selling to foreign buyers at prices substantially below prices for domestic buyers.

The Japan Journal of Finance and Commerce reported that the Mitsui Shipbuilding Co. is likely to conclude a contract with an American firm for construction of a 22,000 - deadweight - ton tanker at a price between $150 and $160 per deadweight ton, 20 per cent less than the former export price of $200, and less than the production cost of $180.

Japanese steel-makers fear that intensified international competition following the Korean truce will worsen the already gloomy export situation for iron-steel products.

Japan also is finding it difficult to fullfill trade agreements with Pakistan and Argentina calling for the export of Japanese iron and steel.

Though the Japan - Pakistan trade agreement signed in April provides for Japan's export of iron and steel, the prices proposed by Pakistan were lower than Japanese production costs.

A month and a half of stalemate in implementing the Japan-Argentina trade agreement was settled by Japan accepting 80,000 tons of Argentine wheat at $90 5 per ton $4 5 hgher than the international price, and selling 75,000 tons of semi-processed iron and steel at $103, about 20 per cent higher than Eurepean prices.

The part of the Japan-Argentine agreement calling for the exchange of Japanese pig iron for Argentine wheat has not been fulfilled. Argentina preferring to take low-priced pig iron from Austria.

Joint Stock Company

Partnership in Atomic Power Formed By Swedish Government and Industry

By FRED MANOR

STOCKHOLM, (NANA)—A joint stock company, Atomic Energy Inc., in which both the government and private industry hold shares is Sweden's answer to the problems of industrial exploitation of Atomic power.

Sweden is today probably the most atomic-minded country in continental Europe. Much attention is being paid here to the military implications of nuclear fission But the Swedes are equally alive to the questions of harnessing atomic energy for industrial purposes

This country, which has neither coal nor oil, will face in the none-too-distant future serious problems of developing sufficient power for its rapidly expanding economy.

Of Sweden's total water-power resources estimated at 60 000 000,000 kilowatts 20 000 000 000 have now been developed Present projects envisage that within the next 20 years all the country's available water power will have been harnessed

MEANWHILE, IT IS up to Atomic Energy Inc., to study methods, whereby atomic energy could first supplement and later eventually supplant Swedens water power

No wonder then that electrial and water power corporations are among the principal industria shareholders in Atomic Energy Inc They hold 45 per cent of the company's shares, while the Swedish government owns 55 per cent The government nominates the company's presidnet, and the industrial shareholders select its vice president.

However, because of the form of a joint stock company, the executive officers of Atomic Energy Inc are entirely free from all bureaucratic interference They can make decisions simply by lifting the telephone, and are not subjected to any of the red tape, usually associated with a government sponsored enterprise

The company's staff numbers 175, of whom 35 are scientists Only seven persons, including typists, work on the administrative side "We are not going to be cluttered up by a large number of accountants and administrative managers," says Harry Brynielsson the companys' works manager But Brynielsson has devised a detailed method of bookkeeping to follow the costs of the varied projects.

THESE INCLUDE the exploitation of extensive uranium deposits at Kvarntorp, in central Sweden, and the building of the first Swedish atomic reactor. This reactor, similar to the one built in the United States in 1943, will be situated right below one of Stockholm's pleasant garden suburbs.

Except for a 124-foot chimney stack, nothing would reveal to a casual observer the presence of the reactor in the midst of the suburban birch woods, less than 150 feet from the nearest residential dwelling.

And yet, ther it is, 110 feet below the surface, in an enormous cavern 60 feet high, and covered by 50 feet of solid granite rock.

An area of a half-million cubic feet was blasted out of the rock, and then built into premises in the form of a cross The reactor, which will begin to function by the middle of next year, stands in the center of the cross It is surrounded by a six-foot radiation shield, made of cement mixed with a large proportion of iron ore. And it has many new features.

THE MAIN INNOVATION, apart from the unusal siting, is in the large number of channels There will be some 60 openings projecting from the reactor through the shield

Ten feet below the reactor is storage space for radioactive material, which will be transported to the laboratories or storage rooms either in pneumatic tubes, or on a narrow-gauge railway now nearing completion A laboratory is placed right below the reactor, and further down, on the lowest level, is a storage tank for heavy water.

Dr. Sigvard Eklund, the company's reasearch manager, displayed the interior of the reactor from its top This was almost the last time that such a view was possible, as workmen were already busy, putting on the lid.

Dr. Eklund explained that the system was purposely more elaborate than would be necessary. But the company wishes to have maximum flexibilty in operating this experimental reactor, so as to gain sufficient experience for the construction of the future large reactor.

Th present one is only of 100 kilowatts But the new reactor now being projected will have a power of 10 000 kilowatts

When and where it will be built is still uncertain It will largely depend on experience gained with the present small type and on the progress made in the company's laboratories as well as at the Swedish universities each of which has a highly developed department studying some aspect of atomic fission

BLIND DRIVING

HAMILTON CITY Calif (UP) John Benson, 32, of Hamilton City Calif., had a perfect excuse when arrested for driving into another car He is blind Confused officers found Benson was completely blind in one eye, had 11-200 vision in the other was receiving total blind aid from the state, and was being supplied with a "reader" by the federal government so he could attend college

It is estimated that the United States produced 2 291 997,000 barrels of crude oil in 1952

Old Adages Proved Poor Method for Weather Forecasts

DETROIT (UP) — However disgusted you may get when an official weather forecast goes astray, you'll still be better off going by the bureaus predictions than by squinting at the sky and relying on an old adage.

Dr. Varden W. Miles associate professor of physics at Wayne University, who made a study of 333 weather maxims some dating back to Biblical times says only a quarter of them proved out

Miles and three investigators, one a licensed meteorologist examined the maxims in relation to weather conditions in the United States One hundred fifty-three of them were judged to be directly connected with factors now known to contribute to the making of the weather But only 57 per cent of these were termed true in terms of scientific principles

However, Miles said the curbstone forecaster could not go too far wrong with these

"The faster the wind blows, the sooner we'll have a change in the weather, the gentler the wind, the slower will be the change in the weather"

"The higher the clouds, the finer the weather"

"Moonlight nights have the highest frost"

"A high wind prevents frost"

"When the glass (barometer) falls low, prepare for a blow; when it rises high, let all your kites fly"

"When mountains and cliffs in the clouds appear, some sudden and violent showers are near."

"Rainbow in the windward, foul fall the day, rainbow to leeward damp runs away"

Miles said two of the "wrong" adages were

"When it thunders on the day of the moon's disappearnce, the crops will prosper and the market will be steady"

If the sun in red should set, the day surely will be wet"

But the truest of the frequently voiced platitudes on the weather, according to Miles is

"Whether it's cold or whether it's hot, we shall have weather, whether or not"

Although the human brain reaches almost its maximum weight at the age of 7, it continues to grow very slowly until age 20 when the weight begins to decline

FISH KEPT QUIET

LANSING, Mich (UP) — Frisky trout are put to sleep to cut down the cost of transporting them from hatcheries for planting in Michigan lakes and streams The Conservation Department says sodium amytal is put in the water of the transport tank to quiet the fish so more can be carried each trip Once returned to untreated water the fish revive and show no after effects

Starts Rumors Flying

U.S. Sets Up NATO's Atomic Cannons On West German Military Reservation

By NORMAN LINDHURST

BONN, (NNNA)—Not since Field Marshal Erwin Rommel trained his Afrika Korps for combat in the North African desert has the old Wehrmacht troop training ground of Grafenwohr throbbed with such frenzied activity.

Rumors began flying early in the summer when groups of field grade officers from the 14 NATO nations descended on Grafenwohr, echelon by echelon and vanished at once behind the tightly guarded doors of the post theater.

The squads of engineers fanned out over western Germany to survey roads and bridges. This seated many Germans, who took it as a certain sign that the Soviets were about to attack, and that the Americans were getting ready to [illegible] demolition charges.

Why was alertid for shipments of "nuclear materials." Word of the order promptly leaked to the Russians. Soon Communist propagandists got busy with charges that the U. S. was preparing Germany as a base for atomic warfare. The confusion mounted when a task force of CIC agents and hard-boiled U. S. military police cordoned off the Grafenworth district and began a round-up of suspected Red agents.

Thus did the American military in Germany get ready for the shipment of monster atomic artillery to Europe.

THE PREPARATIONS may have been a bit too obvious, but they were thorough. So thorough that U. S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg has routes ready to shift the giant cannon to almost any corner of western Germany.

The six 280-millimeter guns in the first shipment will be emplaced on the Grafenwohr reservation. The Americans are not saying officially how many more of the cannons will be sent to Europe.

Top commanders at Heidelberg disclosed, however, that 18 more guns are ready for shipment. And by next summer the total number in Europe will reach upward of 80.

The first battery — the 868th Field Artillery Battalion — will be stationed permanently at Grafenwohr, where the cannon, with a range of 30 miles, could easily lob a shell over the nearby Czech border.

U. S. officers said that later shipments would be dispersed throughout western Germany, with most of the guns being concentrated west of the Rhine. By spring it is expected to have enough of the cannons on hand to begin their deployment in NATO countries outside Germany.

GEN. CHARLES L. BOLTE, the U. S. Army vice chief of staff, said, while in Germany recently, that the cannon would be used almost at once in firing standard ammunition on the Grafenwohr ranges. So great is the range of the big guns, however, that it will be necessary, for firing tests, to emplace the guns outside the reservation and fire into the ranges.

Bolte disclosed that the destructive force of the atomic shell is so catastrophic it would be impossible to fire atomic shells from the guns in Germany, except in event of war.

This fact poses the problem of training gun crews in firing "the real thing" instead of conventional ammunition. One plan under study is to build firig ranges in the North African desert. Gun crews would be rotated then from Germany to the African ranges.

As General Bolte remarked, "The atom cannon being sent to Germany won't be put on a shelf."

ONLY A HANDFUL of the highest American generals in Germany know the answer to the most carefully guarded question involved in shipment of the cannon—has the U. S. already stockpiled atomic shells for the guns.

Nuclear specialists at Heidelberg said, however, they considered this question to be academic. "You don't just ship 85-ton cannons across the water and neglect to send along ammunition for the [illegible]."

Not only have West German government officials been alerted for nuclear shipments, but cavernous underground storage vaults for atomic shells and tactical atomic bombs have been constructed at various points in the area extending from Kaiserslautern to Hitler's old Siegfried Line.

Ironically, some of the storage vaults formed sections of the Siegfried Line.

Army Sea Corps Busiest in Pacific

NAHA, Okinawa (UP) — The U. S. Army operates one of the busiest fleets in the Pacific.

The Ryukyus Command Fleet—though one of the smallest in the world—is doing a big business in supplying food, clothing, gasoline and oil and other vital supplies to military installations on Okinawa and other islands in the Ryukyus chain.

The fleet — a 68-vessel Army Transportation Corps flotilla with home port here — also includes large tugs used for berthing ships at Naha Harbor and White Beach, for making ocean tows and aiding ships in distress in the China and Philippine seas.

The ships are operated by soldiers and American and native civilians. They range in size from 20-foot J boats used to carry passengers and light cargo to 200-foot LSM's (landing ship, medium) which carry tanks and other vehicles.

The fleet is under supervision of Lt. Col. Edward A. Jagge of Damont, N.J., who formerly was connected with two well-known United Stated commercial steamship lines.

The fleet has repair and maintenance equipment for making all kinds of ship repairs as well as annual overhauls.

Assigned to the fleet also are Army deep sea divers who can raise to the suface any ships which go down in the harbor.

Leisure Time Activity Poses Real Problem

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

I know a woman who is hunting, rather desperately, for a hobby. Her doctor has prescribed it as a cure for a rather common American disease called "just nerves."

She fudges a little when she describes the outcome of a recent series of examinations by specialists and expensive X-rays for a persistent ringing in the ears and other vague distressing symptoms. This leads me to believe the medical boys wound up by saying she was a fine physical specimen who merely needed an outside interest.

All of a sudden, my friend showed a passionate interest in finding out all she could about my own consuming interest in gardening. I also caught her earnestly interviewing the woman across the street who is violently torn between collecting coin silver spoons and refinishing furniture.

Still Searching

Apparently neither of us had turned up a hobby she felt fitted her needs because at the moment she is enrolled in an adult education course learning how to make pewter plates and is doing three days a week as a volunteer in the local hospital reading to patients.

My neighbor isn't an exception. A lot of men and women I know seem to have too much leisure and can't seem to find anything stimulating to fill in their time. I'd been thinking about their plight—yet envying them their great gobs of spare time—and thinking how wonderful it would be to have all those hours to pursue the fascinating things I never have time to follow.

Need Balanced Day

Contemplating all the women and men I know who seem bored restless and out of sorts, it occurred to me that each one literally didn't have enough work to balance leisure and they were all suffering from an overdose of play time. It turned out that all the passionate hobbyists I knew—the ones who gleefully refinished furniture spent weekends at power tools in cellar workshops, raised roses of exhibition quality or tinkered with vintage motor cars were the ones who lived and to whom a hobby represented precious, almost stolen hours.

At a recent forum in New York an industrial designer named Henry Dreyfuss estimated that the average American has "a thousand golden hours of leisure" a year his grandparents never enjoyed. He said that such time—and labor's vets is the wishing not time the deep washer thermostatic furnace controls and electric lawn mowers had produced them.

Leisure Hours Added

I'll add shorter work weeks, frozen and ready mixed foods, vacuum cleaners, adding machines and automatic check writers. They've added leisure hours, great wonderful dividends in spare time but I wonder how many Americans think of them as golden. Young mothers and busy career people probably not. I suspect a lot of our comfort thrifty fixed possessions citizens think of them as hot water steel tubes and wish they could figure out some fascinating way to fill them.

I wish I believed a hefty change or an outside interest deliberately undertaken would cure every American's boredom or every case of nerves resulting from empty lives.

It seems to me that all of us must learn to be leisurely, just as once we learned to read and write. We're heading into a period of less work, more machines and more leisure, and most of us are badly equipped to cope with spare time.

King's Daughters Group Meets, Installs Officers

Officers for the new year were installed in a candlelight service when the Good Cheer Circle of King's Daughters met Monday night at the home of Mrs. Don Crevison on Blaine Ave. Serving as co-hostess was Mrs. Lowell Furstenberger.

Mrs. Francis Roush took office as leader; Mrs. Joseph Burns, vice leader; Mrs. LaVern Nash, secretary; Mrs. James Ward Jr., treasurer. The installation was conducted by Mrs. Byron H. Rice, county president, who also gave a talk on her work.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Heler Thompson to open the meeting and reports of the King's Daughters convention held recently in Cleveland were given by Mrs. Roush and Mrs. Burns, delegates from the circle. Members brought to the meeting canned goods for a Thanksgiving basket. A social hour followed. The next meeting will be a Christmas dinner party and gift exchange Dec. 14 at the home of Mrs. James Warner on N. Main St.

Island Endangered By Wild Goat Herd

LOS ANGELES (U.P.)—A zoologist has disclosed that Guadalupe island off the Lower California coast, once a lush paradise has been turned into an almost barren waste by a herd of wild goats.

The disclosure was made by Dr. Thomas Howell, University of California at Los Angeles zoologist and member of a recent expedition to the island 200 miles south of San Diego.

Dr. Howell said naturalists who explored the island in the late 1800's reported a luxuriant vegetation. Now the island has only two sparse groves of cypress trees and palms, he said.

Seven types of birds peculiar to the island now are extinct and others will gradually disappear as the vegetation continues to be destroyed, according to Dr. Howell.

The university zoologist believes the goats were introduced to the island in the early 1800's by whalers as a fresh meat supply for future cruises.

Dr. Howell said the voracious animals may eventually eat themselves into destruction. They are destroying the vegetation which traps water from island fogs, he said, thus eliminating their own water supply.

Many geese and ducks lose their ability to fly at the time of moulting.

Man's Warning System Studied

Physicians Interested In Network of Nerves

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The complex communications system which alerts body defenses when the body is under "attack" is being explored by doctors at UCLA and the Long Beach Veterans Hospital.

The research is concerned with what parts of the brain are involved in an attack situation and how the brain communicates with other parts of the body to set up defense networks.

Four main stations in the communications system have been indentified as important in setting up body defenses. They are the sensory nerves, which focus an injury or disease in the body, the brain, the pituitary gland and the ardenal system.

The key organ in the brain which organizes the body defense has been identified as the hypothalamus gland linked to the other stations by nerve fibre circuits and vascular channels.

When an injury occurs doctors say, the sensory nerves alert the brain, which stimulates the pituitary gland to send out hormones. The hormones in turn, stimulate the adrenal glands to emit substances which aid the body in defense against injury and disease.

U. S. traffic fatalities in 1952 were seven and two-tenths persons per 100 million vehicle miles, the lowest since records have been kept.

Enrich the Flavor of Beef Stew With Herbs

Vary the flavor of a stew and give the dish interesting flavor, you can serve this thrifty meat dish often. Use a variety of liquids such as bullion or tomato juice, different herbs and spices, and a wide range of vegetables.

In the stew pictured herbs, tomato puree and a touch of garlic give the dish interesting flavor.

Tomato Herb Stew

Cut 2 lbs. beef stew meat into 1½ inch cubes. Flour meat and brown well in hot lard or other fat. Sprinkle generously with salt and pepper. Add ½ clove garlic, minced, ½ teaspoon each marjoram and thyme, 1 can tomato puree and 3 cups water. Bring to a boil, then turn heat low and simmer, covered, for 3 hours. Forty-five minutes before done, add 5 sliced carrots, 5 or 6 small onions, and teaspoon of salt. Thicken liquid if desired.

First Family Plans Traditional Dinner For Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON (UP)—The traditional Thanksgiving dinner of President and Mrs. Eisenhower includes a big dish of turnips and potatoes mashed together.

And wherever that dinner is served they like to wind it up with big helpings of two kinds of pie—mince and pumpkin chiffon.

Thanksgiving is one of the few days of the year when the President and First Lady forget about calories. Along with most other Americans, they delight in a full holiday menu planned around a whopping big turkey.

Mrs. Eisenhower disclosed that she and the Chief Executive are not fond of fancy or unusual stuffing for the holiday bird. They prefer a simple dressing, made from crumbled stale bread from which the crusts have been cut. Chopped onions, sauteed with chopped celery, and then mixed with the bread, chopped parsley, salt, pepper, poultry seasoning, and beaten eggs gave the dressing the flavor they like.

No Thanksgiving dinner is complete, either, without giblet gravy and lots of cranberry sauce. They usually start with fruit cup and have dishes of candied sweet potatoes cut green beans, rutabagas, and the turnip-potato combination along with the main course.

Here is the recipe for the Eisenhowers' favorite pumpkin chiffon pie.

3 beaten egg yolks, ¾ cup brown sugar, 1½ cups cooked pumpkin, ½ cup milk, ½ tsp salt; 1 tsp cinnamon, ½ tsp ginger; ½ tsp nutmeg, 1 envelope unsweetened gelatin, ¼ cup cold water; 3 stiffly beaten egg whites; and ¼ cup granulated sugar.

Combine egg yolks, brown sugar, pumpkin, milk, salt and spice, cook in double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. Soak gelatin in cold water, stir into hot mixture. Chill until partly set. Beat egg whites, add granulated sugar, and beat stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into pie shell and chill until set. Garnish with whipped cream.

Yield: one large pie or eight individual pies.

SCARVES PERK UP COSTUME

NEW YORK (UP) — Addition of a bright scarf is one way of perking up a costume, but don't settle for the routine ascot tie. Stylists recommend the Elizabethan ruff as a neckline fill-in. Fold a 24-inch scarf on the diagonal and slip it on, point front. Fold the ends in back, and secure the scarf with a pearl or gold choker. Puff out the scarf above the choker at the front.

The body of a typical adult man contains a little over five quarts of blood.

Fashion Designers Ignoring Children

NEW YORK (UP)—New York fashion designer missed of educators and social workers worrying about neglect of children. Helen Lee, mother of three, says clothing manufacturers have been letting the small fry down for years.

Only recently, she says, have the fashion people made any effort to dress small girls in something other than ruffles and pastels.

The designer, a native of Knoxville, Tenn., has been making children's clothes for 25 years. For her pioneering in production of more sophisticated apparel she was one of three winners of this year's American Fashion Critics Award.

"I believe firmly in a dress a girl can put, button up, and forget about," she said. "I loathe clothes which aren't utilitarian. But for years mothers have washed and ironed pinks, blues, yellows and whites. Plus ruffles and tucks. I don't know where they ever found the time or energy."

More practical, she believes, are charcoal grays, and black.

"I spice the dark colors up with the bright reds, oranges and such," she said. "But little girls love black."

The designer, affiliated with a concern in Youngstown which does an $8,000,000 annual business in girls' dresses, prefers to design for the three to seven age group.

"By the time they're 10 or 12 she said, "their shape has changed . . . they've lost everything and gained nothing."

TWO FOR ONE

EAST AURORA, N. Y. (UP) — While fishing, Austin Bennett felt a strike and began reeling in. Then he felt a second strike, much heavier, and pulled harder. He opened the 16-pound Northern Pike and found he had hooked another fish first—a three pound bass that was still alive.

"Speaking of hearts . . .

I've lost mine to the beautiful colors of that wonderful, all-wool wilton by Holmes."

Spanish Artist Finds Valuable Goya Painting

BILBAO Spain (UP) — Art connoisseurs value it more than 350,000 pesetas ($6,000) a painting by the Spanish master Goya which Antonio Otano a Bilbao attorney bought for only 600 pesetas ($12) in a local antique shop.

The painting had hung unrecognized in a private Bilbao collection for more than 50 years and had been overlooked by nearly all the art collectors of this northern seaport town at a recent sale before Otano located it in the half light of a small show room.

Even the experts of the Bilbao Museum of Art had turned the picture down when it was offered to them as a gift on the death of its previous owner.

Otano secretary of the local Artists Association stumbled across the 42x32.5 centimeter masterpiece, which shows three blacksmiths working at a forge when he went to the art shop to buy a frame for a picture.

The Goya was in a group of pictures hanging in a storeroom in the rear of the room. But since electricity restrictions were in effect in the city and the shop was without electric power for the day Otano was scarcely able to see the pictures.

But the effectiveness of the Goya painting attracted him and he examined it more closely. He recognized it as a painting of quality and immediately offered 500 pesetas to the shopkeeper who was only too glad to find a buyer for a picture rejected by other experts.

Otano took the picture home where he carefully cleaned it and was able to reveal the signature of Goya. Immediately the value of the picture soared.

One collector offered to buy the picture from Otano at any price he might name but the artist has not yet decided whether to sell the picture or not. For the moment it seems that the picture will remain in Bilbao in the artist's care.

The picture hung in the home of a Senor Gil Iturriaga for half a century previously, without any one recognizing it as a Goya.

When Iturriaga died he placed his collection at the disposal of the Bilbao Art Museum. He stipulated that any works which the museum did not want should be sold for the benefit of a religious community.

Museum experts turned the Goya picture down and left it to be sold. The art experts of Bilbao were allowed to pick over what was left but none of them recognized the Goya. It was one of 35 wanted by nobody.

So it was carried off on a barrow to the little art dealer's shop where Otano spotted it.

THEFT DURING SERVICES

PADUCAH Ky (UP) — A thief stole $100 worth of silverware and tools from the Twelfth Street Baptist Church while services were in progress.

Radioactivity May Bring Control of Trichinosis

BERKELEY Calif (UP) — The use of radioactive isotopes to control trichinosis in pork was explained by scientists at the Conference of Nuclear Engineering on the University of California campus.

H J Gomberg and S E Gould both of the University of Michigan said experiments proved that sterilization of pork by irradiation is technically feasible and said cost analyses on the processes are now in progress.

Need for a practical sterilization process to prevent the infectious muscle disease said Gomberg, is demonstrated by the fact that there is no known way of reversing the course of the disease and that an estimated 16,000 clinical cases occur annually.

California and New Jersey have the largest garbage - feeding pig farms in the United States, Gomberg said, and this practice promotes a closed-disease cycle of the little parasitic worms (trichinae) that infect muscle tissue in man and some animals.

WHILE most supermarkets are found ashore the U S Navy operates a fleet of floating supermarkets in which the butcher and the grocer are all at sea trying to keep up with a hungry fleet "on the run"

The difficult problem of feeding combat forces in foreign waters is handled by refrigerator ships or reefers Unlike most supermarkets the reefers deliver the goods to the customer by various methods of underway ship transfer

Paris Cooks Reveal Favorite Recipes

'Genoise,' French Cake, Has Been Adapted to American Cooking

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

PARIS, France—You can share in a fabulous baking bee and cooking spree!

Here in Paris for the inauguration of a European Recipe Service sponsored by the Pillsbury Mills of U.S.A., we have taste-tested dozens of Europe's finest yeast breads, cakes, cookies and other dishes, so that we could give you some of the secrets of their making.

For the first time, to our knowledge, an American food company has gone into European kitchens with this aim to work out Continental recipes in American cooking terms, and at the same time keep them authentic.

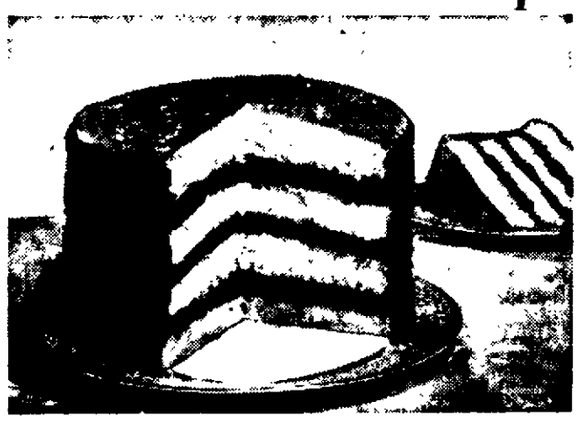
This recipe translation is of utmost importance in baking, because our flour differs from that of Europe in gluten, and so we need to adjust our liquid measurements in preparing these great products of the European cuisine.

Eventually these recipes will be put into the company's flour sacks. Meanwhile we offer you two samples which this column alone has the right to publish for the next six months.

One of these recipes is a typically French and utterly delightful version of that great cake—the Genoise. Here too, is another scrumptious dish never found in American cookbooks. Pommes de Terre Dauphine. It is made with cream-puff batter, mixed with mashed potatoes and grated Parmesan cheese, and deep-fat fried to become golden-brown morsels of taste teasing delight.

As soon as these recipes were in our hands, we hied ourselves to a kitchen and tried them out. If you follow our directions, we assure you of superlative success!

Originating in Genoa, Italy, the feathery Genoise has become so popular throughout Europe that it could be called the Continent's "Cake of Cakes." It is baked in round and square layers, for jelly rolls and Christmas logs, for tiered cakes and high loaves, and filled with flavored and tinted whipped cream, butter-rich fillings, fruit purees or fruit preserves. European cooks, famous for their artistry, sometimes decorate Genoise elaborately with glaceed fruits, nuts and decorators' frosting shaped into leaves and flowers.



PARISIAN CAKE—French favorite adapted for America.

Our Pommes de Terre Dauphine stems from the days when the potato, brought from Virginia and introduced into France in the 16th Century, became high culinary fashion in royal courts.

Superb cooks in Paris were lavish in the help they gave American home economists in recording these two cherished recipes. They send them on the chance that you might like to share in France's culinary heritage. Bon apetit!

GENOISE FOURRE AU CHOCOLAT

Ingredients: 1 cup (about 5) eggs, 1 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1¼ cups sifted enriched flour, Creme au Beurre au Chocolat, 1 cup apricot preserves, two 1½-ounce jars chocolate shot or 3 ounces semi-sweet chocolate (grated).

Method: Grease bottoms of two (8 by 1½ inches) round layer-cake pans; line bottoms with waxed paper. Beat eggs in large bowl with rotary beater (hand or electric) until they begin to get thick and are lemon-colored. Gradually beat in sugar with salt and vanilla; continue beating until thick and ivory-colored. Fold in flour, 2 tablespoons at a time, until blended. Turn into prepared pans; batter will be thick enough to "ribbon." Bake in moderate (350F) oven 25 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pans placed on cake racks. Ease cake gently out of pans with fingers and spatula; strip off paper. With a long serrated knife, split cake to form four layers. Spread layers with Creme Au Beurre Au Chocolat. Frost top and sides of cake with apricot preserves; cover sides with chocolate shot or grated chocolate. Refrigerate until serving time.

CREME AU BEURRE AU CHOCOLAT

Ingredients: ¾ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 3 eggs, 1½ cups milk, 1 square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate (shaved), 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup butter or margarine (creamed).

Method: Mix sugar and cornstarch thoroughly in heavy saucepan. Add eggs, beat with fork until blended and bubbly. Stir in milk. Cook over moderately low heat, stirring constantly and vigorously until thickened. Remove from heat; stir in chocolate until melted and blended. Stir in vanilla. Strain; cover; cool. Gradually beat into creamed butter until blended.

POMMES DE TERRE DAUPHINE

INGREDIENTS: ¼ cup butter or margarine, ¾ cup boiling water, 2-3 cup sifted enriched flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, 2 cups mashed potatoes, ½ cup freshly-grated Parmesan cheese.

METHOD: Melt butter in boiling water in saucepan. Add flour and salt all at once. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until mixture leaves sides of pan and is smooth and compact, about 2 minutes. Remove from heat; cool about 1 minute. Blend in eggs one at a time, beating vigorously after each until mixture is smooth and glossy. Mix potatoes and cheese; blend into flour-egg mixture. Drop by rounded teaspoons into deep hot (350F) fat. Fry until lightly browned on both sides, about 4 to 6 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper, keep warm in low oven until all are fried. Serve at once, allowing 5 to 6 for each serving. Makes about 4 dozen.

Florida's Home Project Blocks Proposed Park

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (UP)—Thanks to a zany real estate transaction during the famous Florida boom days, Everglades National Park developers are tearing their hair.

The unusual story dates back to 1921 when a town site was platted and called "Pomciana, the Coming Miami of the Gulf." The owners sold several thousand "lots" to persons who obviously did not know what they were buying, for Pomciana was platted in a remote section of the Everglades.

The approaches to the vine-entangled wasteland are too dry for boats and too wet for anything else. Surrounding Pomciana are several miles of impassible mangrove swamps.

The federal government currently is attempting to extend the western boundary of Everglades National Park but is running into considerable difficulty because of Pomciana.

First, the "Coming Miami of the Gulf" lies directly in the path of the proposed extension. Another problem lies in the fact that some 1,500 Americans who are scattered all over the nation maintain their ownership in the white elephant and pay taxes on it every year.

Finally, modern surveys of the area show that the townsite never should have been mapped at the mouth of Lotsman's River. Instead, the government says, it should have been charted two miles west and one mile north, an even denser section of the Everglades.

The government's problem is to make contact with all the landowners to initiate either purchasing or condemnation proceedings.

"It's quite complicated," said Albert Manly, who serves as land acquisition agent for the Federal Park Service.

Eventually the government probably will give up its attempt to reach the owners and draw an irregular line that will exclude the "Coming Miami of the Gulf."

As for the owners of the wasteland, they will cling to their holdings and hope someday it will be worth something. The area currently is being inspected for oil but so far no strike has been made.

Jap Divers Return To Aussie Waters

BROOME, Australia (UP) — Industrious Japanese pearl divers have been gratefully welcomed back to Broome because they are helping to revive Australia's pearling industry.

Here in this coastal sport of pearling 35 Japanese divers are proving effective ambassadors for their country in the midst of natives who elsewhere in Australia generally still regard Japan with deep suspicion born of wartime atrocities.

Australian pearl fleet owners and bankers told me they were delighted to have the Japanese back in Broome where they figured prominently in the pearling industry for many years prior to World War II.

In Broome's heyday in 1912 a total of 400 luggers won 1,000 tons of pearl shell with the help of 2,000 divers. Broome had a Chinatown then and the mixture of races provided endless plots for Australian and other authors. Today Chinatown is dilapidated. The Japanese still hold their religious rites at the end of the pearling season and maintain rules of brothels known as "Sisters Line" which are added favorites with the Nips.

Even before Japanese attacks destroyed some of the Broome pearling industry's buildup, the pearl fleet was dwindling to nothing by the 1930's.

Now there are only 23 luggers which will produce about 400 tons of shell for the New York market, worth $1,568 per ton.

At the end of the war Malay divers produced most of the shell, averaging 14 to 15 tons per season per diver. Then several Chinese divers imported from Hongkong averaged 20 tons each per season.

But the small handful of Australians who control the Broome pearling industry remembered fondly the records of the Japanese who worked for them in better days. After prolonged representations to Canberra for Japanese help to restore this dollar-earning industry, 35 carefully picked Nipponese were imported last March. Virtually all had lived in Broome before. These divers are expected to bring up about 35 tons each for this season, even though they got a late start.

"No wonder," a fleet owner said, "we are glad to have the Japanese come back. They are extraordinarily keen about their work.

"They are the greatest divers we have ever had here. We need them and we are glad to have them. We get along fine—just as we did in the old days.

Most of the divers are in their forties and fifties but they easily outclass Malays, Chinese and a few Koepangers much younger.

Industry leaders said they would be glad to have Japanese shipwrights return here to help build more pearling luggers. Prewar 70 per cent of the fleet men were Japanese.
